DEATH SENTENCE FOR GEORGE STONER

Quake Kills Over 20,000 In India

QUETTA AREA IS SCENE OF RUIN TO-DAY

Estimates of Deaths in Earth Shocks in Baluchistan, Northwest India, Run as High as 30,000; Relief Work Quickly Organized

Reports From Many Points Are Awaited

Associated Press
Karachi, India, May 31.—An estimate that 20,000 persons were killed early to-day in Quetta alone by the earthquake which jarred northwest India was contained to-night in a wireless message from the Quetta wireless station.

The message was one of the first complete estimates to reach here since the earth shocks wrecked all land communication lines throughout the district.

Before the message arrived, unofficial and unconfirmed estimates had placed the death toll as high as 30,000.

Quetta reported the number of injured was thus far estimated only as "in the hundreds."

AIRMEN KILLED

Earlier reports had told of the Royal Air Force garrison being badly hit with the deaths of forty-four men.

This latest message said that most of the other garrisons had escaped serious damage and that various troops had been ordered into service digging through the debris of the city and extricating the injured.

The earthquake hit around 3 a.m. (2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Victoria time) with three violent shocks, devastating the countryside around Quetta, which is near the northwest-ern frontier.

Although the offices of the Governor-General and the staff college and military headquarters escaped serious damage, most of the other sections of the town, including the thickly populated native districts, were destroyed by the shocks.

Among those reported killed were Meredith Jones, of the political department, and his wife and her mother, Mrs. Bradford, an irrigation engineer named Francis, and his wife. The aviators reported those killed included Flying Officer Charles Payer.

PRISON INSPECTOR'S WORDS PROTESTED

Ex-convict States at Federal Inquiry He Felt Like Hitting J. D. Dawson Because of Remarks About Miss MacPhail, M.P.

Ottawa, May 31.—Commissioner E. J. Daly was told to-day by A. C. Hall, former convict at the K'gton penitentiary, he had practically threatened to smash J. D. Dawson, inspector of the penitentiaries branch, on the nose for reflecting on Miss Agnes MacPhail, member of Parliament for Southeast Grey, Ont.

"In fact I lost my temper and told him (Dawson) I was not a penitentiary inspector I would smash him in the nose," Hall swore. He had told this to Dawson at an interview with the inspector April 10, 1934, when the official had said: "Aggie made a fool of herself in the House of Commons; when we are finished with her she won't be able to hold up her head in the House of Commons."

"You did not use the statement about punching Inspector Dawson in the nose in the affidavit you made," R. H. Greer, K.C., commission counsel, said. "What was Inspector Dawson's reaction?"

"I think he (Dawson) told me to keep quiet," Hall replied.

"I told Inspector Dawson I would report his statements."

BASEBALL COMPLAINT

The conversation had taken place in the lecture room of the administration building, outside the penitentiary, with the inspector and himself only present, Hall swore. He was representing convicts complaining of curtailment of baseball playing.

BRITAIN IS FOR AVIATION PARITY

Attitude Toward Germany, France and Italy Stated in Commons By Eden

London, May 31.—Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, had indicated that Great Britain believes the time is ripe for calling a European aviation conference at which the four great powers (Great Britain, Germany, France and Italy) is that of parity.

Great Britain was ready immediately to negotiate a treaty combining military aviation parity of the four western European powers with pledges for instantaneous mutual assistance among the signatories of a treaty against aerial aggression.

KING GEORGE INDISPOSED

Sovereign Suffering From Cold; Cancels Engagements in London

London, May 31.—An official announcement to-night said King George was suffering from a chill and had been advised to remain indoors as a precautionary measure.

The King, who is celebrating his silver jubilee, therefore will not attend the London County Council's jubilee reception with the Queen and other members of the royal family to-night.

The King developed the chill after driving to St. James's Palace this morning to hold a levee at which officers of the army, navy and air force were presented to him.

Court circles said they did not consider his illness a serious nature.

May Offer Reward In Tacoma Hunt For Kidnappers

George Weyerhaeuser, Nine, Still Held By Abductors To-day, One Week After Seizure; Karpis-Nelson Gangsters Suspected

Tacoma, Wash., May 31.—The power of a federal anti-kidnaping law was thrown behind government forces in the Weyerhaeuser case to-day with new reports that linked notorious gangsters with abduction of the wealthy timber family's young son.

Lieutenants of the Alvin Karpis and George "Baby Face" Nelson gangs pushed into the case as one week passed with no information concerning the fate of nine-year-old George Weyerhaeuser.

The seven-day period since George was seized for a $200,000 ransom gave Department of Justice agents power to enter the case under the "Indemnity Law," through which death of life imprisonment may face the kidnapers.

REWARD DISCUSSED

A $25,000 reward may be offered within a few days if the kidnapers fail to exchange George Weyerhaeuser for the $200,000 demanded, a trustworthy source reported to-day.

From another source it was learned the demanded ransom, although prepared and ready for the "child stealers," has not been claimed.

The offer of a reward it was believed might hasten George's delivery through the old adage of "money talks," in buying information.

It was indicated the purpose of a reward would be first to gain release of the boy.

Commission On Trade Planned

Ottawa, May 31.—First definite announcement that the government would bring in a bill to create a federal trade and industry commission in accordance with the recommendations of the Royal Commission on mass buying came to-day when Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice, introduced a bill to amend the Combines Investigation Act.

Main purpose of this amending bill was to transfer its administration from the Department of Labor to an independent body to be set up, to be known as the Federal Trade and Industry Commission. The act necessary to create this commission has been the subject of long cabinet sessions for nearly two weeks, and it is expected to come before Parliament next week.

MACDONALD TO RESIGN JUNE 6

Baldwin Will Be Called on to Form Ministry For Great Britain

London, May 31.—After six successive years as Prime Minister, Ramsay MacDonald will formally resign on June 6 and for the third time R. H. Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, will be called on to form a ministry. This expectation became definite to-day although the actual composition of the reconstructed cabinet remains uncertain.

A subsequent general election lies in the dim background, with forces already working both for and against Party mathematicians, however, are already busily casting up the probabilities of an appeal to the polls.

NEW CABINET FOR FRENCH

Fernand Bouisson Ministry to Succeed Defeated Flamin Cabinet

Paris, May 31.—Fernand Bouisson, called from the presidency of the Chamber of Deputies to succeed Pierre Etienne Flamin as Premier of France, to-night announced completion of his cabinet.

The big, bald, bearded former football player thus undertook the task of leading the battle in defence of the franc.

M. Bouisson refrained from announcing the official list of cabinet members until he had secured the support of the Radical Party, one of the leaders of the centre group in the Chamber of Deputies.

M. Bouisson was thrust to the forefront of the agitated political situation as the Flamin government went down to defeat in a dramatic early morning session of the chamber.

The fall of the Flamin government was the consequence of the Premier's refusal to approve the Premier's demands for dictatorial powers to combat deflation.

Unmoved by M. Flamin's personal appeal, they voted their lack of confidence in his regime, 353 to 202, (Turn to Page 2, Col. 7)

FIVE DIE IN ONTARIO FIRE

Children From 15 Months to 19 Years Perish in Toronto Suburb

Toronto, May 31.—Five children ranging in age from fifteen months to nineteen years were burned to death here early to-day when flames destroyed their frame home at Alderwood, a little community on the western outskirts of the city.

The family, named Scott, were all asleep when the fire of unknown origin, broke out in the wooden building. The father leaped from a second story window to the ground and the mother threw an infant to him. She herself then leaped into his arms through billows of smoke. It was impossible to reach the other members of the family.

News of the tragedy reached the city at 9:15 a.m.

CHURCH CONDEMNS CHAIN LETTERS

Saskatoon, May 31.—Chain letters, sweepstakes, church raffles, speculating in stocks and other forms of gambling came in for denunciation at the eleventh annual Saskatchewan Conference of the United Church of Canada here to-day.

"Chain letters are sweeping the province like a prairie fire," said Rev. A. J. Belton, of Saskatoon.

MONTH SETS SUN RECORD

Records of Forty-four Years Are Broken; Less Rainfall During May Than Usual

Records of forty-four years were broken this month when the sunshine for Victoria reached over 325 hours. It was learned this morning in the May weather report issued by F. Napier Denison, superintendent of the Meteorological Observatory on Gonzales Hill. It was a warm, dry month, the rainfall being below average.

For the thirty days of May, ending yesterday, Old Sol gave 321 hours and forty-eight minutes of his brightness to Victorians. The former record for thirty-one days of the month was 323 hours of sunshine in 1928. With over two hours of sunshine to-day this record was broken.

Weather records were first taken in Victoria in 1861 in Esquimalt. Later the bureau moved to Government Street and in 1914 to the present location on top of Gonzales Hill.

The mean temperature for Victoria during May was fifty-four degrees, which was four degrees above the average. The highest temperature was seventy degrees on May 6 and the lowest forty-three degrees on May 2. The amount of rain was .04 inch, the highest temperature of the month was recorded.

The total rainfall for the month of May was .28 of an inch, which was 74 of an inch below the average. Both April and May were exceedingly dry months, but because of the unusually heavy rains in January, the average for the first five months of the year is still high.

The average sunshine for the month of May is 277 hours, so that up to yesterday evening this was forty-five hours above the average.

Because of the lack of rain and the unusually long hours of sunshine, gardens of Victoria are exceedingly dry and garden hoses have been in operation all month. Farms outside Victoria are feeling the weather conditions, and their owners are praying and hoping for a good downpour of rain.

JURY DELIBERATES FIFTY-THREE MINUTES AND FINDS CHAUFFEUR GUILTY OF SLAYING F. M. RATTENBURY, FORMERLY OF VICTORIA; MERCY RECOMMENDATION ACCOMPANIES VERDICT

"Glad She Is Spared," Declares Stoner

Canadian Press
London, May 31.—George Percy Stoner to-day was found guilty in the Bournemouth triangle murder case and sentenced to death. His co-defendant, Mrs. Alma Rattenbury, was acquitted.

The verdict ended one of the most sensational murder trials the Old Bailey has ever witnessed. The couple, the youth aged 18, and the woman aged 38, were tried for the murder of the woman's elderly husband, Francis Mawson Rattenbury, who lived for many years in Victoria, B.C.

The jury of ten men and two women gave heed to the defence contention that Stoner, the family chauffeur, struck the blow with a mallet that inflicted fatal injury to the seventy-year-old Rattenbury, but disregarded the plea that the youth was insane from narcotic drugs and jealous at the time. Mr. Justice Humphreys had instructed the jury there was no evidence that Stoner, if he was guilty, was insane at the time "so as not to be responsible for his actions."

FLOOD TOLL IN COLORADO

Dead and Missing Total Twenty-seven; Five Missing in Wyoming

Denver, Colo., May 31.—Colorado to-day counted twenty-seven dead and missing in a week's series of floods while neighboring Wyoming this morning added five to the list of probable cloud-burst victims.

While the cities of Colorado Springs and Pueblo and their environs watched waters recede to-day and engaged in restoration of the wrecked area, a new menace developed on the Platte River from Fort Morgan east as the stream carried off the turbulent waters that wreaked havoc elsewhere yesterday.

Isolated Kiowa from which no word was received since a flood on Kiowa Creek washed out communicating roads and wires yesterday, was watching from the shore to have been affected relatively little. Men were making their way into the community on foot and on horseback to-day. Three were reported dead there and three in neighboring Neb.

CROWD SEES DEATHS

Colorado Springs, Colo., May 31.—Horror held to the spot by a weird fascination, a crowd of several thousand persons stood helplessly on the banks of flood-torn Fountain Creek yesterday and watched a man and woman face destruction with uncanny calm.

The woman was Helen Carver, the man Orville Hall, both residents of Pueblo who had come to Colorado Springs to spend the Memorial Day holiday.

Their identity was not learned, however, until many hours later. The crowds that lined the banks knew only that two fellow human beings were crouched atop their automobile, trapped by the thundering wall that swept down the ordinarily small stream.

Many in the crowd did not attempt to hide their emotion, and prayers for the doomed pair were heard. But the emotional display came from the crowd alone. In midstream, the man and woman maintained a stoic, almost indifferent silence as they awaited death.

RESCUE EFFORTS FAIL

Scores joined in futile rescue efforts. But the flood was too wide, too powerful. It swept ever higher.

The flood's fury grew, houses were swept away, the debris flashing past the frantic couple.

The auto remained upright and lodged between two telephone poles. The hapless man and woman clung tightly to the poles. Again the car broke away and swept along with the stream. Preserving their courage and silence, the pair dropped from sight in the muddy, whirling water.

Neither was seen again.

Hundreds of persons were homeless to-day and the property damage in Colorado Springs, Pueblo, and several small villages north of here was estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Homes were swept away, highway and railway bridges gone, and communication, power and transportation paralyzed in the worst floods in fifteen years.

plated mutual guarantees against unprovoked aggression from the air.

2. Agreement on limitation of air strength.

3. The outlawry of indiscriminate bombing.

GERMAN PROPOSALS

Sir John confirmed that Britain and the other Locarno powers have received the draft on an air pact from Germany. France and Italy also have received drafts, so that now all the powers concerned except Belgium have drafts ready.

NO SERIOUS DIFFERENCES

He indicated negotiations to bring the drafts into line would open shortly. "There is no serious difference between the powers," Sir John stated. "We are prepared to do our part, and I am very glad to read statements in Adolf Hitler's speech which show the German government is also prepared to play its part in discussing and, I very much hope, in successfully negotiating the air pact but also a limitation agreement which would be an immense relief."

He referred to the German Chancellor's speech at Weimar as also promising hope of "repudiation of indiscriminate bombing, which I trust will lead to effective abolition of one of the most terrible and haunting dangers threatening the world."

Sir John said he did not think the newly-announced expansion of the British air force was inimical to peace. On the contrary, he felt it greatly added to the prospect of securing a limitation agreement.

B.C. Will Fight New Federal Laws

Right to legislate itself on such matters. As a point of fact, millions of dollars have already been written off by the province in reclamation and irrigation projects through inability of the holders to pay.

"The fact is," said the Premier, "that this act directly interferes with provincial contracts and provincial taxation rights."

He did not specify in what other particulars the province would attack the recent federal legislation other than fighting "all along the line."

In his public pronouncements during the last few months Premier Pattullo has laid the foundation for the dispute, having consistently referred to the invasion of provincial rights.

There was some suggestion that his announcement to-day was provoked by the failure of Ottawa to advance money for a road programme. The Premier's only comment on this point was "negotiations between governments are never closed."

Prison Inspector's Words Protested

WARM EXCHANGE

A warm interchange occurred between J. C. McGee, counsel for Miss MacPhail, and commission counsel.

"The severe cross-examination of Hall on behalf of Dawson is not to be taken as a reflection on the statements made by Mr. Grey about how impartial he was going to be," Mr. McGee declared at one stage.

"My friend (Mr. McGee) is trying to get newspaper publicity," commented Dawson.

"I am not, but I am going to protest against any unfairness," Mr. McGee answered.

"There has been no unfairness," Judge Daly said.

HALL'S EVIDENCE

The thirty-five-year-old witness, a doctor of philosophy and a doctor of theology, said he was not a doctor of medicine, but an advertising copywriter.

He had been sentenced in 1933 to a two-year term for obtaining an unlawful sum of money from an unlicensed person and admitted he had had a previous record.

Trouble had occurred in the Kingston Penitentiary in May, 1934, a month after his interview with Inspector Lawson and he had been charged with creating a disturbance and insulting an officer. Hall denied the charges.

He had been sentenced on this charge to spend fifty-four days in the punishment cell and the rest of the sentence in the workhouse. He had also been sentenced to "twenty paddles," but this had not been carried out.

Hall said he had left the institution last February 27.

He said he had been chairman of the baseball organization at the penitentiary and had chosen by the prisoners to make complaints they were not getting certain recreational privileges. He interviewed Warden W. B. McLaughlin, who suggested he should write a letter to the warden and that his letter would be passed on to Mr. Dawson.

"I was eventually brought before Inspector Dawson," he said. The interview with Dawson was on April 9, 1934.

WARDEN THERE

"During the interview Warden McLaughlin came in twice and walked around the room, obviously waiting for an invitation to join the conference," Hall said.

"How did this alleged statement regarding Miss MacPhail come about?" Mr. Grey asked.

Dawson had before him a lot of papers and had asked him about a fellow-convict, Charles Baynes. The witness continued, had also said Baynes had given out information about an inmate being killed at Stony Mountain Penitentiary (in Manitoba) while working on a scaffold. Dawson also had said information given to and used by Miss MacPhail was false, Hall said.

Proceeding, the witness maintained Dawson had said "Argie made a fool of herself in the House of Commons. When we are finished with her she won't be able to hold her head up in the House of Commons."

His answer to Dawson, the witness said, was that he held Miss MacPhail in the highest respect and was interested in social work and a lady.

CAMP MEN ON LONG MARCH

B.C. Relief Strikers Hope Others Will Join Them on Proposed Trip to Ottawa

Canadian Press

Vancouver, May 31.—Spokesmen for some 1,300 striking relief camp workers congregated in Vancouver to-day to discuss the possibility of a long march to Ottawa.

They will begin a massed movement toward Ottawa next Monday to present their demands for improved camp conditions to the Dominion Government.

If the plan approved yesterday afternoon at a general meeting of the strikers is carried out, the British Columbia workers will be joined by workers from other relief camps as they cross the continent and a spokesman declared it is hoped the relief army will be several thousand strong when it reaches Ottawa.

The result of a ballot taken here yesterday on the question of abandoning the strike begun April 4 and returning to the camps was announced at yesterday's meeting with the vote 228 to 270 in favor of continuing the strike.

TRANSPORTATION

The plan is that the men, heading for Ottawa, will employ any available mode of transportation. Word would be sent ahead to all relief camps for the men to meet the main body and join in the march.

REQUESTS REFUSED

After yesterday's meeting here, a delegation was sent to Mayor G. G. McGee to ask permission for a tag day on Saturday to raise funds to finance a delegation to Ottawa.

The men also asked that the city grant them relief for the three days they will remain in Vancouver. Both requests were refused by the mayor.

AT EDMONTON

Edmonton, May 31 (Canadian Press).—Relief camp workers congregated in Edmonton to meet over the week-end to decide whether or not they will join the proposed march on Ottawa. It was announced by unemployed leaders to-day.

MAY OFFER REWARD IN TACOMA HUNT FOR KIDNAPPERS

PRISONER QUESTIONED

John Paul Chase, partner of the late "Baby Face" Nelson, has been questioned at Alcatraz Island prison, San Francisco, in connection with the case, it was announced in this city by United States Attorney H. M. McKee.

Chase is serving a life sentence for the slaying of two federal agents in the "Battle of Barrington, Ill." which brought death to Nelson.

McKee would not reveal results of the questioning by Justice Department agents.

Of the silence surrounding the federal agents' activities, meanwhile, came statements from an authentic source indicating they consider the Weyerhaeuser kidnapping last Friday was the work of "the master."

To previous reports that Paul of Alvin Karpis had been seen here and nearby was added to-day the statement of Edward G. Bremer, wealthy St. Paul, Minn., banker, who paid $200,000 for his freedom—the same amount as asked for the release of little George.

PARENTS IN AUCLESION

The child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Weyerhaeuser, still were in seclusion, refusing press statements.

E. BENTZ MENTIONED

Another development was the revelation that Ed Bentz, forty, former Tacoma boy and one-time associate of George "Machine Gun" Kelly and of Albert Bates, may have been a suspect in the case. This was revealed when a government agent remarked that "he would like to talk to Bentz."

Even before the agent dropped the remark it was known local authorities have theorized over Bentz's probable connection with the disappearance of the boy.

Some of them believe that Bentz, last of the Bates gang, may have teamed with the remnants of the Karpis mob in the Weyerhaeuser kidnapping.

Bentz is a former Tacoma boy. The Karpis gang engineered the $200,000 Edward G. Bremer "match" in St. Paul, Minn. The Weyerhaeuser interview are centered in Tacoma and St. Paul.

APARTMENT REPORTS

Although Alvin Karpis and his henchman, Harry Campbell, are fugitives in the Bremer case, Tacoma stock in the statement of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence G. Reed, Tacoma apartment manager, yesterday that a man resembling Volney Davis of the Karpis mob, rented an apartment here Saturday and left, with a woman, a few hours later.

To-day, however, it became known that Jack Palmer, manager of a congested apartment house, had identified a picture of Davis as resembling a man who asked Sunday to rent an apartment for two days and departed when informed the apartments were not rented for such a short period.

POLICE STATEMENT

William Cole, chief of the Washington State patrol, which has been mobilized for the Weyerhaeuser case on orders of Governor Clarence D. Martin, told the Associated Press in Olympia yesterday evening that he believed the Weyerhaeuser boy will be started by his parents.

He made a statement after returning to the capital from conferring with his staff here.

It was the first time any officer connected with the case had permitted his name to be used. While Cole's terse statement was sensational enough here, the mere fact that he, an official in the case, made any statement was deemed even more significant than what he said.

"LOCAL TALENT"

Information that Bentz, a fugitive from Texas justice for two years, may be a Weyerhaeuser case suspect, tied in, too, with a Tacoma officer's un-

Roosevelt Says Issue Is Whether Federal Power Shall Direct Social Changes.

Associated Press

Washington, May 31.—President Roosevelt to-day accepted the Supreme Court's ruling on the National Firearms Act, focusing the issue on whether the federal government or the forty-eight states shall have control over national social and economic conditions.

It raised the question whether the Agricultural Adjustment Administration and the Securities Commission would be subject to a constitutional amendment to empower Congress to deal with national commercial conditions, he said not necessarily.

Asked by reporters if the issue did not point directly to a constitutional amendment to empower Congress to deal with national commercial conditions, he said not necessarily.

He did not elaborate, but apparently was exploring possibilities of other laws to reach the New Deal objectives, laws that would be upheld by the highest court.

NEVER CONVINCE

As to the AAA, he said the question now before the country was whether the federal government has any valid power to regulate crop production.

The issue was up to the people, he added, indicating an expectation that it would be focused determinedly in the years immediately ahead.

Surrounded by Mrs. Roosevelt and his secretaries, the President spoke calmly and deliberately as he outlined the situation in part to the note-taking audience of newsmen.

He had a copy of the decision in his hand, and referred to it occasionally.

He said the issue would have to be settled by a vote of the people—not necessarily this summer or fall or winter, but probably in the next four or five years.

WAITED ALL NIGHT

People again waited all night long to get into the Old Bailey. The theatre was underdressed by the rain that fell during the night.

The jury might think the result of the evidence as a whole pointed to the fact that the person who caused the injury to Rattenbury and that Mrs. Rattenbury was a party to the attack, but not the actual assailant, said the judge in his charge.

If it had been proved to their satisfaction that Storer attacked Rattenbury without justification, and thereby committed the offence with intention to cause grievous bodily harm, if not killing, then unless something happened in the case Storer was guilty of murder, he declared.

Rattenbury died four days after he was struck.

If the jury came to the conclusion it was the duty of the person who was aiding and abetting Storer in the commission of the crime, or that although absent she was present and procured—that is to say, advised, agreed with, and assisted Storer that he should commit the crime—then as an accessory before the fact she was equally guilty.

His Lordship declared the verdict must be separate. There were statements in the course of the trial which were evidence against the person who made them, but not against the person who did not make them, he pointed out.

CHARACTER OF WIDOW

His Lordship dealt at length with the character of Mrs. Rattenbury. The jury could not say that she was a person who was ready to give evidence against her husband, but that she should not make them any more ready to convict; it should if anything be taken from her ready to accept the evidence against her if they thought there could be an explanation consistent with her innocence.

Beware you do not convict her of this crime because she is an adulteress—"an adulteress, you may think, the most unpleasant type," said the judge.

In regard to Storer the judge had no more right to refuse to give evidence from motives of pity, than they had the right to refuse to give evidence to evidence in Mrs. Rattenbury's case which might be in her favor, because they thoroughly despised her, he said.

Storer was convicted by his mistress, the judge continued. He reminded the jurors also they must decide whether the evidence of Irene Riggs, Mrs. Rattenbury's companion, was reliable.

He asked whether the jury could believe that while Mrs. Rattenbury and Storer were together in London they had been together in the Weyerhaeuser kidnapping.

He asked whether the jury could believe that Storer had been under the influence of cocaine, and it seemed a fact of most profound significance that Storer preferred not to give evidence.

He asked the jurors if they could find the slightest justification for saying that Storer, if he struck Rattenbury, did not know what the effect was likely to be.

Japan-Germany Pact Reported

London, May 31.—The London Daily Express, under a Washington, D.C., date line, asserted to-day it had learned a secret military alliance between Japan and Germany had been concluded.

The newspaper said that under the alliance "German army officers are to go to Japan to co-ordinate action and Japanese officers are likely to go to Germany."

HAD FORGED BANKNOTES

New Westminster, May 31.—Rose Clair Donald, twenty-two, pleaded guilty in the auster court here to-day to a charge of being in possession of forged banknotes and was released by Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald, who sentenced her to the time she had already spent in jail. He said she was a victim of unfortunate circumstances.

London, May 31.—A further fall in gold currencies, accompanied by a depreciation of 2 to 3 cents to the pound sterling in the United States dollar resulted in the foreign exchange market here to-day from the French cabinet crisis.

The dollar closed officially at $4.95 3/16 to the pound, down from $4.96 1/2. The French franc slipped to 75.25 to the pound as compared with yesterday's quotation of 74.75. The Dutch guilder was quoted at 7.34 1/2 to the pound.

Forest Blaze Under Control

Reports From Western Alberta State Fine Stand of Timber Saved By Crews

Canadian Press

Rocky Mountain House, Alta., May 31.—After raging since Wednesday afternoon, a fire which threatened to destroy one of the best remaining timber stands in this district, 100 miles northwest of Calgary, was reported under control to-day.

Reports from the fire-fighting front, twenty-five miles northwest of this town, are meagre. Roads are very bad and communication is difficult, but the welcome word of "fire under control" has been received from the fire superintendent.

One hundred men have toiled day and night to check the roaring flames which, for a time, were fanned by high winds.

No estimate of the damage could be given here to-day, but yesterday afternoon it was reported 1,000,000 feet of timber, cut during the winter months, were in danger.

STEVENS PAD BACK MONEY

The correspondence between Mr. Stevens and G. T. Clarkson, receiver of the company, said the former minister had joined the company "with the understanding that the manufacturing Finance Corporation was about to open offices in Vancouver for loaning or advancing of funds by the discounting of automobile paper."

Return of the commissions was "voluntary and without compulsion of any kind," the letter advised Mr. Clarkson November 5, 1925.

S. I. Springsteen, commission counsel, said he was "not so sure" the return had been made voluntarily because the offer had not been made until "a year and a quarter after the collapse."

Mr. Sadgwick also admitted to Peter White, K.C., counsel for the former president, Senator J. Anthony McDonald of British Columbia, that his report was based "mainly on information given him by "other persons," but would not agree it was "all" founded on "hearsay."

PIANO BUSINESS

Mr. White attempted to show the company had founded because of the slow trade in the piano business, and Mr. Sedgwick interrupted to read a letter "from Senator Currier" to the effect the U.F.C. had been formed purely to finance the Amherst Piano Company, of which Senator McDonald was president, and owned 15 per cent of the stock. The senator denied this and Mr. Sedgwick said he would produce all the correspondence in this regard.

BETTING PLACE RAIDED BY POLICE

Canadian Press

Toronto, May 31.—Two men arrested yesterday evening when police raided an alleged betting establishment where they estimated the turnover at about $2,000 a day, faced a hearing to-day.

Piling systems, printed forms, and a board charting race track entries throughout the continent were seized, police said.
The raid was carried out quietly and so suddenly did the police enter the room in a hotel the two accused were said to be talking over the telephone when the officers entered.
Police said the telephone kept ringing after the raid. Detectives answered the calls and said upwards of $100 in bets was placed with the officers.

Of the equipment and documents seized the officers took $600 in cash and $2,000 worth of betting slips.

Future of Quintuplets Is Bright As Trust Fund Grows

Affairs of Dionne Babies Handled by Three Guardians, Whose Chairman Is Former Judge J. A. Valin

By WILLIS THORNTON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

Callander, Ont., May 31.—The Dionne quintuplets, who entered the world a year ago under as dark auspices as can well be imagined, have entered their second year with prospects as bright as the sun.

If all survive—and anyone who has reared children knows the perils that lie ahead of even healthy children like these at their first birthday—no children in the world, regardless of wealth or position, face a rosier future.

They are in glowing health to-day. Every aid science can devise is at their instant disposal. A steadily growing trust fund is being administered for their benefit by able guardians, who have a genuine and deep concern for the children's welfare.

When the government guardianship of the little girls as wards of the King is terminated, these accumulated trust funds will be their own to give them a start in life.

Plans for their education include better and broader training than is available to the average child. They will be reared in the faith of their family, that of the Roman Catholic church.

LAW ESTABLISHES FAITH
This point, ex-Judge J. A. Valin, head of the board of guardians, points out, is not only specifically covered by the act providing for the guardianship, but is well established in Canadian law.

Any such training is, of course, impossible at present. Rev. Father E. T. McNally, parish priest of the family at Corbett, smilingly comments: "The children's spiritual welfare and guidance will be my concern when it becomes possible to minister to it. Until then I am sure their material welfare is in good hands."

When teaching becomes possible, it will probably begin, at least, with careful tutoring in their present home in the Duff Hospital.

This model institution may gradually take the aspects of school as the children's physical needs become less paramount.

WILL SPEAK TWO TONGUES
The years are not apparent in this tiny, whose first birthday was celebrated last Tuesday, will learn both French and English.

"Knowledge of both languages is of great value to anyone who hopes to have a life in French Canada of the greatest usefulness and enjoyment," says Judge Valin.

"English is increasingly the business language here in Ontario, but people of French extraction do well for cultural and personal reasons to keep also the language of their family and friends."

The trust fund for the quintuplets, which now has a potential value of nearly $175,000 and which may well be far greater by the time they are grown girls, is being administered with scrupulous care. The secretary-treasurer of the fund, Solicitor H. R. Valin, is bonded, and his accounts are carefully audited.

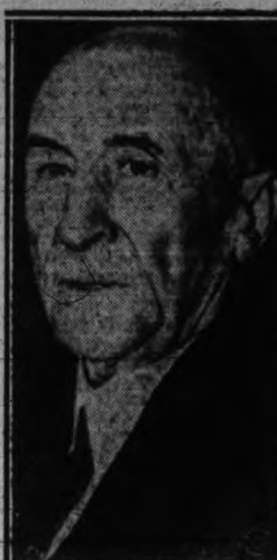

NUNS TO BE TEACHERS
It is the intention of the guardians to allow the little girls just as great freedom in living their own lives as they grow up as is consistent with protecting them and their interests from exploitation of any kind.

Search is being made for Roman Catholic nuns to be added to the nursing staff who can meet the exacting qualifications which will be necessary as the nurse merges into the teacher.

This problem has been the heavy concern of Mr. Valin, whose forty years as judge of the district of Nipissing, gave him unusual qualifications for the duties of guardian.

One of the duties of that bench is to act as surrogate, especially concerned with wills and guardianships. Judge Valin in his time passed on hundreds of guardianship cases, and had most extensive experience in this problem.

Besides, the venerable seventy-eight-year-old French-Canadian has been completely captured by the charms of the little Dionnes. His blue eyes take on a certain softness as he says, "They are the most beautiful little things in the world."

HAS GREAT VITALITY
Judge Valin retains the courtly, old-world manner of the Quebec seigniors who were his forbears, but he has a touch of Irish fighting blood in him, too, on his mother's side.

In the early days of his judgeship, when he trekked 250 miles north of here to Cobalt and Cochrane to hear cases in the "poor man's court," he was a man of endless vitality.

And even to-day, nearing his seventy-ninth birthday, he enjoys long walks, and had just finished trying out a new canoe at his summer place at Trout Lake, when he talked of the little Dionnes with the NEA correspondent.

The years are not apparent in this tiny, whose first birthday was celebrated last Tuesday, will learn both French and English.

"Knowledge of both languages is of great value to anyone who hopes to have a life in French Canada of the greatest usefulness and enjoyment," says Judge Valin.

Irish Press Is Under Pressure

Hints Heard Government Will Introduce Legislation to Control Newspapers

By JOSEPH DENNIGAN
Canadian Press Correspondent

Dublin, May 31.—Hints thrown out here that the Department of Justice is contemplating legislation to control the press have created some apprehension among Irish newspapermen.

Spokesmen of Eamon de Valera's republican government declare it has never got a square deal from the press, home or foreign. It is reported the climax occurred when sensational stories foreshadowing violence and bloodshed during the anniversary celebrations of the 1916 Easter Rebellion were published by British newspapers.

Weekly letters sent from Dublin to papers published in the Irish provinces have also incurred displeasure of the government, acting through its official information bureau, and detectives of the special political branch of the police have been ordered to pursue inquiries as to the correspondents responsible. Several reporters have been accosted in the streets by detectives, and in one case a prominent news writer was taken to police headquarters for interrogation.

It has not been intimated whether the writers of the letters are to be accused of offences, but it is believed the bureau is trying to frighten the writers into toning down.

MILITARY TRIALS
A partial censorship is already in force as to the proceedings of the military tribunal. Reporters who attended the tribunal were informed by the registrar of the court that descriptive matter in reports of political trials would not be permitted and further that no reference could be made in the newspapers to this prohibition.

Following a precedent set up by the government of William T. Cosgrave, Mr. de Valera's administration has begun the practice of withholding government advertisements from certain newspapers which actively support the opposition. The Cork Examiner, a daily newspaper in Munster, was deprived of advertising when it refused to publish a press release on the "grow more wheat" plan in full and without comment.

Dr. W. C. Milner Critically Hurt

Former Dominion Archivist, 90, Struck By Truck at Saint John, N.B.

Canadian Press
Saint John, N.B., May 31.—Knocked down yesterday by a truck as he crossed a street, Dr. W. C. Milner, ninety, of Edmonton, former Dominion archivist, was in serious condition in hospital here to-day.

The aged research student was given a chance of recovery, but his advanced age led physicians to pronounce his condition critical.

ROME AND EDMONTON
Edmonton, May 31.—Dr. William C. Milner, ninety, formerly of the Dominion archives, reported in Saint John, N.B., to be in critical condition after being struck by a truck there, left his home in Edmonton fifteen days ago to spend the summer in the Maritimes.

He has lived here for the last three years, since a short time after retiring from the archivist's post at Halifax, which he had held for fifteen years.

Before becoming a Dominion archivist, Dr. Milner was known throughout the Dominion through his contributions to newspapers and magazines and through many monographs on historical, scientific and political subjects.

Straw Vote Against Military Aviation

Canadian Press from Havas
London, May 31.—Universal abolition of military aviation and limitation of armaments were favored by an overwhelming majority in a straw vote conducted by the League of Nations Union in Greater London, the union announced yesterday evening.

On these questions and on the questions of supporting the League and forbidding the manufacture of arms for profit, the vote favored the proposition by 1,400,000 to 100,000.

Londoners voted 1,375,061 to 86,531 for the use of economic sanctions against an aggressor, whatever the nation might be, and 878,378 to 86,064 for use of military sanctions if they were found necessary.

CITY SOFTBALL

Silent Glows took their first defeat of the season yesterday evening as they bowed to Bert Waude's snappy outfit 2 to 1 in the feature engagement on the Lower Island Softball Association card. As a result of the game, played at Victoria West Park, the contending teams yesterday evening are bracketed in a first place section tie.

Wes Method Laundry, champions of the island last year, climbed out of their slump to gain a 7 to 4 verdict over the Civic Staff at the Athletic Park.

At Work Point, Brundson's Boys squeaked through to a 6 to 5 verdict over the Garrison.

In a high scoring B division fixture, Painters' Brigade sent the Waves down to a 22 to 13 defeat, while the Foodie Dog Cafe tightened up their hold on second place with a 30 to 9 decision over the Eagles at Spencer's Park.

Kreges beat Bapco 9 to 6 in the other B division game at Central Park.

FOOLING THE PUBLIC

THE HOUSE OF COMMONS AT
 Ottawa is engaged in a proceeding for which it would be hard to find a precedent. Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice, introduced legislation inserting in the Criminal Code penalties for infringement of measures affecting hours of work and minimum wages arising out of the report of the price spreads commission, but in doing so admitted that they were of doubtful validity. This was not only his own opinion but that of W. N. Tilley, K.C., of Toronto, and Aime Geoffrion, K.C., of Montreal, two of the most eminent counsel in the Dominion. All held that it was doubtful if a conviction could be secured under the legislation.

This is an amazing development. If these provisions are of dubious validity, if the Minister of Justice himself does not believe they can be enforced, their passage to the statutes is an act of gross deception apparently designed for election purposes. Its effect can only be to undermine public confidence in all legislation and its administration, and it is therefore a blow at our institutions of government. This is not to challenge the merits of the measures, which already are in operation in many of the provinces. It simply means that the government is trifling with the public when it adopts legislation which it doubts can be enforced.

Nor is this the only legislation of doubtful validity which has been rushed into law recently. There is no doubt that a number of other so-called reform enactments would be thrown out by the courts if their operation were questioned, since they are an infringement of the powers of the provincial legislatures. Yet under them there are going to be countless officials appointed, and their cost of operation admittedly will run into millions. The opposition in the House has been vainly attempting to induce the government to obtain the opinion of the Supreme Court on their validity before imposing upon the taxpayers of the country structures which might collapse as soon as they became involved in legal action. This election is going to cost Canada a lot of money.

FRANCE'S POLITICAL CRISIS

A CABINET CRISIS IN FRANCE IS A frequent occurrence. The defeat of Premier Flandin in the Chamber of Deputies had been predicted for several days as he waged the battle in defence of the franc. M. Fernand Bouisson has succeeded him. It is his intention to try to form a coalition cabinet in the hope of obtaining the support of the Socialists led by M. Leon Blum. Hitherto the Socialist party has refused to participate in any ministry.

The fall of the government was the outcome of the refusal of the Chamber of Deputies to approve the Premier's demands for dictatorial powers to combat devaluation. The vote against his regime was 353 to 202, this in spite of the fact that he warned the chamber that devaluation would result if his successor were denied the same powers he sought.

The session of the chamber was marked by a dramatic incident. Despite the handicap of a fractured arm, Flandin took the rostrum to plead his case, but after his appeal it was necessary for him to be assisted to an ante-room where he collapsed from his exertions.

Latest advices from Paris inform us that immediately after the defeat of the government authorities went into action against speculators, while it was announced that several banks were searched and many documents seized as bank managers were routed from their homes for questioning. The Bourne, by the way, appeared to be operating as usual.

The defeat of a government in France, contrary to the British system, does not mean a general election. The French constitution, like that of the United States, is very rigid. The Chamber of Deputies is elected for four years, the last being returned three years ago. After the election in 1932 the division of political strength was: Communist and Social-Communists, twenty; Socialists, 130; Republican-Socialists and French-Socialists, thirty-three; Radicals and Radical-Socialists, 153; Independent-Radicals, seventy-four; Republicans-of-the-Left, forty-eight; Democrats, fifteen; Democrat-Republican-Union, Democratic and Social-Action, Independents, and others, 142.

The Senate is composed of 314 members, elected for nine years, one-third retiring every three years. In the four years the Chamber of Deputies holds office there may be a new Premier every week. The late M. Briand held the record of being eleven times Prime Minister of France.

LINKING UP THE ISLAND

THERE HAS BEEN MUCH TALK ABOUT Vancouver Island unification recently, and a programme has been launched for the creation of a better spirit of neighborliness between the island communities. A practical move to that end is about to be made by the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway by a special cheap excursion between Victoria and all points on the line to Port Alberni and Courtenay. On Friday, June 7, it will be possible to travel between these places on a cent-a-mile basis, which means that the rate will be not more than a fourth of the present charge. Passengers will be able to go from this city to Nanaimo and return for $1.50, while the return fare to Port Alberni will be only $2.70, and to Courtenay $2.80, in comparison with the existing charges of four times these rates. The return date must be not later than June 11.

While it is true the date of departure will be limited to June 7, it is probable that other excursions of the same kind will be conducted if this experiment should be adequately patronized. We offer no excuse for calling attention to this innovation, for we are convinced that there are marked possibilities for island unity and development in cheaper railroad transportation between the northern and southern districts. But we can not expect this to be provided unless the operating company is assured of sufficient support to enable it to run its trains at low rates without loss.

Greater Victoria itself can be an important factor in the realization of this objective, from which it would derive a great deal of material benefit, besides establishing a more intimate relationship with the other parts of the island, which in many cases it positively needs. Personal contact is the most effective means of promoting cordial relations between the various communities, and if the E. and N's experiment shall justify other ventures of the same nature, it will be possible to establish this at a minimum of cost and inconvenience.

A WORTHY CAUSE

THE WOMEN'S WORKROOM IN VICTORIA has meant the partial solution of the material problems of a large number of the gentler sex without which, in many cases, life would have been a tragic affair. But like all good works, the institution can not carry on without funds, and for that reason willing helpers in the cause will be at the street corners of the city to-morrow to tag the usually generous Victorians. The Times bespeaks a liberal response.

NORMANDIE ON HER WAY

ANOTHER CHAPTER IN THE RACE for the blue-ribbon of the Atlantic has been opened with the departure of the new French liner Normandie from Cherbourg for New York, and if this great vessel continues at the speed she is reported to be making she will snatch the sceptre of supremacy from the Italian ship Rex. She is said to be averaging more than twenty-nine knots an hour, while the Rex averaged a little over twenty-eight, the Europa and Bremen better than twenty-seven. For the time being it is likely that even the political crisis in Paris and the troubles of the franc will have to give way in French public interest to the majestic progress of the pride of France's mercantile marine.

The Normandie is easily the largest vessel in operation, and is greater in tonnage and eleven feet longer than the Queen Mary, although in vessels of such size this disparity means very little. Both ships are more than 1,000 feet long and their tonnage exceeds 75,000. As business propositions neither of them will succeed, and they probably will be down in the books of their respective companies at a dollar apiece. They were built for purposes of national prestige and also for the more practical reason of finding work for thousands of unemployed in many avenues of industry.

WHY NOT DISARM?

THE POWERS OF EUROPE ARE TALKING about an "Air Locarno." Reichsfuehrer Hitler of Germany has sent his draft of the proposed pact to Great Britain, France, Italy, and Belgium, the four governments with which Germany signed the original pact of Locarno.

It is intimated by the British Foreign Office that Britain's reply to the German draft plan will be that Germany, simultaneously with signature of an Air Convention, shall join some general armaments and security agreement; and return to the League of Nations.

In the British House of Commons to-day, Sir John Simon, the Foreign Secretary, said "There is no serious difference between the powers concerned . . . and I am very glad to read statements in Adolf Hitler's speech which show the German government is also prepared to play its part in discussing, and I very much hope, in successfully negotiating not only an Air Pact but also a limitation agreement which would be an immense relief."

It all comes back to the old problem. The European powers are talking about disarmament when, really, they are discussing the limitation of armaments—meaning that they are contemplating the use of arms. If arms shall be used again, especially in Europe, it will be found that Reichsfuehrer Hitler's statement that Europe in these days is too small for another war will be only too true.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THEIR OWN BONDS
 The London Free Press

Only last fall since the Heppburn Government took office there was an issue of MacLaren Quebec bonds. The contracts were approved by A. G. Slaght, E.C., Mr. Heppburn's chief lieutenant, from a legal standpoint and were approved by J. M. Godfrey, director of the Security Frauds Prevention Act. Surely the people who bought these bonds were justified in believing that they had behind them the good faith of Ontario.

STEEL AT THE SOO
 The Sault Ste. Marie Star

By equipping the Sault steel plant in the last few weeks to manufacture large structural steel shapes, up to 12-inch beams and channels, and to manufacture steel sheet piling for dock and canal walls, neither of which products were previously made in Canada, the Algoma Steel Corporation has put itself in a position to take advantage of the revival in the construction industry which many believe is in the offing.

This is an important development for the Sault, for with the large rail mill no longer entirely dependent on rails to keep it busy, there should be steadier employment for steel workers here, a condition which will benefit all classes of the community.

This enlargement of the scope of the local plant is an evidence of the progressive policy of the present management of the plant and as it is understood that these moves are just the first in a programme of further diversification, it is evident that the Sault is in for better times than it has enjoyed for a long while.

Loose Ends

The Journal tells an unpleasant truth—Perhaps you're a little tired of them, too—But don't dare to breathe it—Mr. Pigram stands firm—And Democracy gets a smack in the eye.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

NATURE HELPED

THE OTTAWA JOURNAL has performed a distinguished public service by rising to say brutally that it is growing a little tired of the quintuplets. Millions of other people would like to say it, but lack the moral courage, as I do. I should like to say that I am growing a little tired of the quintuplets, too, but I know that if I did, I should be deluged with protests and probably subjected to physical violence. But if one did have the moral courage, one would say that the quintuplets are being rather overdone and even a five-ring circus grows tiresome after a while.

If Mr. Heppburn and his government don't stop thrusting the Dionnes at the world every day, quintuplets, instead of being marvelous and inspiring, will become positively common place. And besides, it is not fair to the girls. When they grow a little older they will know, if they have inherited the wisdom of their original mother, Eve, that the only way to attract men and hold them is to appear unyielding and elusive. It is bad enough to endure one lady who thrusts herself upon you. No man can endure five.

But what bore one considerably more than the quintuplets is the smug, proprietary, possessive and paternal air of the Ontario government towards them. You would think that the Heppburn government's only policy was the segregation of the babies from their parents. You would think that the whole structure of Ontario politics was built on the quintuplets.

While I dare say no other government in the world can boast a similar policy, still there must be other interesting things in Ontario. There must be the depression, at least, but you never hear of it. You never hear anything from Ontario nowadays but the quintuplets, until you would think that the Ontario government had really something to do with the phenomenon. You would think that they had been created under a provincial statute. Surely nature is entitled to a little of the praise, but nature probably doesn't expect it. Nature probably regards the whole thing as an unfortunate bungle, which it will be careful not to repeat in the next several hundred years. I hope not, anyway.

OXFORD
 I KNOW NOTHING of these things myself, but Mr. Jim Butterfield of the Vancouver Province, who spent some months in active membership and promotion of this organization, and then dropped it cold, tells the world that the Oxford Group is fighting valiantly against Communism and is a strong pillar of the existing economic and financial system. This may or may not be true about the Oxford Group or any other sect, but rather doubt it, because some of the Groupers whom I happen to know, are rabid Socialists, and their religious ideas, like other men's, are nobody's business anyway. But this brings up the interesting question whether Communism, or the existing economic system or any other political or economic arrangement has anything whatever to do with religion. The notion that Communism, for example, is anti-religious because the Russian government has officially repealed Christianity in Russia, is particularly idiotic.

Pure Christianity, as explained by its Founder, would probably take the secular form of pure Communism, though the Russians, who haven't either, would be the last to admit it. Certainly no shadow of Christianity can be claimed for the other systems that have always prevailed in all Christian countries and which, being based on the principle of taking as much as possible from your brother instead of sharing what you have with him, are thoroughly anti-Christian.

But that, again, is not the point. The point which antagonists and partisans of pagan Russia and pagan Germany overlook is that religion has no connection with political systems and should be kept strictly out of them if it is to be preserved as religion. For religion has nothing to do with the things of this world at all, and it is largely the attempt to mix the two together to rationalize religion to suit the current political and economic fashion that has brought religion to its present low estate and made the young doubt that there is any truth in it.

In a stand-up fight with our economic, religion takes a knock-out every time. In open competition with the discoveries of science, it hasn't a chance. When it comes into the market place and tries to support or oppose a system of business it becomes only a theory of ethics, which isn't religion at all, and isn't as effective either as an NRA code or a Stevens committee.

If religion has any meaning, it is a meaning apart from and above all these considerations and makes them appear rather unimportant. If religion will assert that superior position, instead of trying to wrestle with these lesser things, it will insist that there is something else instead of trying to put a smooth respectable veneer on the chaos of our anti-religious civilization. It will be in a more respectable position and a lot more people will embrace it.

MR. PIGRAM

THE CASE OF MR. PIGRAM, of Southminster, Essex, and his bovine that never burned, is attracting wide and understandable attention in England. Mr. Pigram, like a loyal Briton, built a huge bonfire to celebrate the King's Jubilee, but he did it so far in advance of the occasion that a robin, two blackbirds, a crow and some rabbits all built nests in the pile of branches. Consequently, Mr. Pigram refused to light the fire when the Jubilee night arrived. Neighbors, with a stronger sense of patriotism than human feeling, insisted that Mr. Pigram must burn his bonfire anyway, whatever happened to the inhabitants, but Mr. Pigram stood firm and the bonfire never burned. Mr. Pigram is world-famous now, but no one has heard of Dan Weatherly, who performed an equally heroic service to wild life and got no thanks for it. Dan lives up in the Cariboo, twenty miles from his nearest neighbor. Some years ago he built a vast wooden gate to keep his own cows in and the neighbors out. It took him several days to skin the poles, install the twelve-inch post and tie it to a deadman in the ground. Then Dan went away for a week, leaving the gate open. When he returned, one of those bluebirds that swim in the Cariboo, making it the happiest country in the world, had nested on top of one of the gate hinges, between the gate and the post. If he closed the gate, Dan would have had to crush the nest and its four eggs, so he left it open. The same thing happened the next year. It happened every year regularly and Dan has got into the habit of leaving the gate open all the time. He might just as well not have one. The bluebird family, generation after generation, comes back every year. Dan's cows walk out and the neighbors' cows walk in but Dan says there isn't anything he can do about it.

entire project being abandoned, and that the city may be made the defendant in actions for heavy damages, brought by property owners along that thoroughfare, were views expressed at yesterday evening's meeting of the City Council.

Work will shortly be commenced upon the extension of the Dominion Government telegraph and telephone system through the islands in the north of the Gulf of Georgia. The projected extensions embrace fifty miles of land wire and 82,000 feet of cable. An early start will be made on the land lines and the cable connections will commence when they are completed.

The teams selected for the match to-morrow night between North Ward and Victoria West lacrosse game are as follows: Victoria West: H. Campbell, H. Chapp, McLaughlin, Styles, E. O'Neill, S. Row, Brown, A. Campbell, Jenkins, L. Thomas, Joe Bailey, Semple, Perkins, Johnson, and reserves, P. Wilson, T. Stevens, North Ward: B. Johnson, F. Sweeney, Dakers, Wode, Kroeger, Brynjolfsson, Humber, Pettier, Sargison, McDonald, Morris, McDougal, Martin, Phillips, reserves, McGregor and Baker.

The first of the Grand Trunk Pacific steamers, the Prince Albert, formerly the Bruno, arrived here this morning in command of Capt. L. E. A. Hogstedt. She made a fast passage from Hull on the east coast of England in sixty-six days, which included stops for refueling.

Miss Dorothy Bulwer, of Esquimalt Road, is leaving shortly on a visit to England. Among the Victorians who called on the Empress of Ireland for England on Friday were: Mr. and Mrs. Guthrie, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Hughes, Mr. Royds, Mr. Eton and two daughters and Mrs. Vickering.

RELIEF CAMP NEEDS

To the Editor:—The Women's League for Social Justice fully realizes that justice is equally due to the public, as well as in this case of injustice against which we are protesting.

To emphasize our stand for the changing of the relief camp system, we appealed to the public for funds to help the men. This cannot go on to the end of the world. The findings of the commission should be announced within the next few days, and if they are not radically progressive we shall continue our campaign of protest.

All we ask now, as a final gesture, is that the men who need shoes and blankets be supplied with them. So if those who can see their way to give a pair of canvas boots, shoes or handkerchiefs would please place an order to that effect in some store, with the request that $5000 be notified. The men will be credited, and will be accompanied by a credentialed member of this league; and once the supply is filled all extra orders will be duly acknowledged and cancelled.

Some of the boys only need their boots resoled and re-laced. An order to a cobbler with the same instructions would also be of tremendous help. The cobbler is doing a quiet and unselfish work for many of their old customers who have fallen on evil days by doing much free work for the people they know personally. They deserve all the support that can be given them by those who can afford to pay not only for their own shoes repairing, but someone else's, too.

This is our final appeal for material things for the men. We all know the quotation: "An army marches on its stomach," but equally true, literally, it should be: "An army needs dry, comfortable shoes."

ALICE G. COOLIDGE,
 Publicity and Welfare Committees,
 The Women's League for Social Justice, May 29.

CITY WATER RATES

To the Editor:—In connection with my plea for a more lenient attitude to the small householders, relating to their supply of city water, I have only the welfare of a large worthy majority of Victorians in mind—those who are mostly obliged to pay for the waterworks—and if my suggestion advanced to Mayor Leeming by a letter on May 18, that a generous reduction in cost be made for the surplus water used during the four summer months and the citizens many of whom are having a very difficult time to make ends meet, be given "a break" in the way of cheaper water, be further encouraged in their efforts to help themselves, is not entirely practical, then I will gladly support another scheme to arrive at the same object.

The need is very pressing for gardens now and I am reliably informed that a large amount of the city water that is surplus is run into the sea each day.
 BUREN J. GARDNER,
 May 30.

WATERFRONT TROUBLE

To the Editor:—On the Pacific Coast we are again faced with a threatened waterfront strike, which will do tremendous damage to our list and general business. The man on the street is beginning to wonder what is really at the bottom of this constant strike, as the average working man is generally reasonable in his demands for better conditions. When we think of the Corbin strike, in which demands were conceded to the men, and then overnight a fresh set of them presented it would seem that certain men are not interested in settling the strike, but in breaking the concern and throwing the men on relief. What does this amalgamation of Coast unions mean? Does it not mean that if some trouble occurs in one trade or another the leaders of that particular union can tie up the coastwise trade?

NEW MEANS OF MOTHERHOOD

Women Who Through Misfortune of Nature Are Childless Will Be Aided

Madison, Wis., May 31.—A sociologist and two physicians of the University of Wisconsin to-day disclosed success of experiments which they said pointed a way to motherhood for many women hitherto childless through misfortune of nature. The results will be reported to national medical meetings in June. The use of pituitary hormone extract to achieve a natural pregnancy in a thirty-eight-year-old woman previously thought to be sterile was described by Drs. Ralph E. Campbell and Elmer L. Severinghaus of the Wisconsin Medical School. They collaborated with Dr. Frederick L. Hiss, a leader in research in the hormones of reproduction. The physicians withheld the name of a woman who they said will soon become a mother through success of their work. Childless through fifteen years, the couple had sought aid of several physicians. A special examination revealed inactive glands, for which the researchers planned and administered the hormone treatment.

Poli Negri Has Fourth Husband

Associated Press
London, May 31.—Poli Negri has decided on her next and fourth husband. The Daily Mail said to-day in a dispatch from Nice, France. "It is premature to disclose his identity, except that he is prominent in London society circles," the newspaper's correspondent quoted the actress as saying.

DIVA OVERCOME BEFORE CAMERA

Hollywood, May 31.—After sixty years in opera and the concert stage, Ernestine Schumann-Heink made her debut in motion pictures, forgot her lines, cried, and went home. The beloved diva appeared at the studio Wednesday for her scenes in the picture "Here's to Romance." Everything was in readiness. The lights were switched on, cameras whirled, and—A bewildered expression crossed Mrs. Schumann-Heink's face. She struggled vainly to remember the words. A word of encouragement from a prompter only confused her. Tears came to the eyes of the seventy-three-year-old singer. She was so broken up by the experience she went home. Yesterday she sang for "her boys" at a Memorial Day programme in the Coliseum.

The groom was supported by Albert Green, brother of the bride. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold and silver bracelet and earrings, to the bridesmaid a white purse and to the best man a pearl studpin. ELECTED BY ACCLAMATION

Mrs. E. W. Hetherington
Head of Victoria Little Theatre Association

Mrs. E. W. Hetherington was unanimously chosen president of the Victoria Little Theatre Association to fill the vacancy created by the retirement of Hugh Greenman at the fifth annual meeting of the association held yesterday evening.

Other officers elected were: Vice-president, Harry J. Davie; secretary, Leslie Hewitt; assistant secretary, Miss Wilma Anderson; treasurer, Charles Swannell; house and social committee chairman, Arthur Kerr; entertainment, Miss Margaret Swanson; play reading committee, Daniel McDonald; aid society and properties, Leo Marston.

After the election of officers, plans were made for the coming year. Mr. Greenman, under whose leadership, the association had such a successful year, stated in his annual report that the deficit in last year's accounts had been reduced materially.

Jack Barracough, the retiring secretary, gave a resume of the year's activities. It was reported that three major plays, "Hay Fever," "The Late Christopher Bean" and "The Play's the Thing," had been produced, the first named being given at Dunsmuir.

Smaller productions included "St. Cyrion and the Devil," entered in the Dominion Drama Festival, and "The Hundredth Chance," entered in the British Columbia Drama Festival.

Three one-act plays were produced for the entertainment of the men at Otter Point relief camp, while plays with members of the staff gathered in the club of the Kwanan Club.

Charles Swannell, treasurer, gave a detailed statement of the association's revenue and expenditures. A nice balance was shown, which will help in reducing the previous year's deficit, as well as a private donation to the funds of the organization.

The treasurer's report of admission receipts to plays disclosed that the Victoria Little Theatre Association's following was increasing.

The question of entering a play in the International Drama Festival, planned for August in Victoria, was left with the board of directors, with power to act.

There was an open discussion on the much-debated question of a Little Theatre, and the hope was expressed that the various theatrical and musical groups in the city might get together and provide a suitable theatre, or that the needs of little theatre organizations might be met in the proposed civic auditorium.

It is planned to produce four major plays next season. A definite announcement on its selection will be made later by the board of directors, although the general meeting has made a recommendation following the description of the mystery play seen in London by Mr. Davis, who was enthusiastic over its merit.

MARY CLOSES STAGE CAREER
Producing of Motion Pictures Will Absorb Her Time

Associated Press
Portland, Ore., May 31.—Pressure of executive responsibilities in the producing of motion pictures has forced Mary Pickford to terminate a new stage career.

The Canadian actress made the announcement to-day as she arrived from Hollywood. After five performances of "Coquette," she will close here Saturday.

The upheaval in the affairs of the United States corporation caused her to postpone her scheduled opening here last Monday and to fly to Hollywood for a directors' meeting of the producing and distributing organization.

William H. Neblett, announcing he had advised the star not to return here to contest the divorce suit, declared Barrymore "does not want a divorce."

"He is still fond of Mrs. Barrymore and would like to stay married to her," Neblett said. "He expects to continue to support her two children in the future as he has done in the past."

Efforts to reach Mrs. Barrymore for comment were unsuccessful, and her attorney, Henry F. Prince, gave no statement. He would make no statement until she goes into court for the divorce. Barrymore is aboard her yacht in Havana.

Young People's Societies

METROPOLITAN

The closing meeting of the Metropolitan United Young People's Society was a big success. Doris Smith conducted a worship service, which opened with the hymn "O Master, Let Me Walk With Thee." Dorothy Howard read a chapter from the Book of Proverbs and Elise Le Gresley led the meeting in prayer. Doris Smith read an article on "The Sacredness of Personality" and closed the service with the hymn "God Be With You." Before going down to the supper tables, Bill Patrick entertained with two banjo solos, "Foot and Peasant" and "The Isle of Capri."

While the members and guests were seated around the tables, Kenneth Craig and Bill Johnson played "Freddie Face" and "Lookie Lookie" as saxophone duets. This was followed by an amusing skit, with Tom Wilson as Ed Wynn and Douglas Ritchie as Graham McNamee. Mothers of the young people, including Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Keeler, Mrs. England, Mrs. McPhee, Mrs. Ritchie, Mrs. Vale, and Mrs. Warr kindly offered their assistance and waited on the tables. After supper, Mr. Warr rendered two solos, "Kashmir Song" and "In the Garden of Tomorrow."

Edwin Cliff gave a report on the whole of the Young People's British Columbia Conference held in Vancouver and Doris Smith and Hazel McPhee reported on their group discussion there. The Hawaiian Seven, consisting of Mollie George and Winnie Tallich, Jean Monbard and Victor Cooley, entertained with two Hawaiian selections.

Ellis Walker and Emma Keeler, who were also delegates to Vancouver, reported on the findings from their discussion groups. Elbert Wood then presented Mr. and Mrs. Chris Taylor with a wedding gift from the society, and welcomed the guests. Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Church, and Mrs. Bellamy, who is visiting from the prairies.

Mr. Warr spoke a few words benedicting the closing of the term and then called upon the president, Herbert Simpson, who thanked the council for their year's work and the members for their support. Mr. Church was called upon for a dramatic reading entitled "Bill Mason's Bride," and Douglas Ritchie sang the solo "Trees."

After the secretary's and treasurer's reports, Slim Hunter and his Rustlers made merry with their music. The evening closed with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and "Abide With Me," and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. E. F. Church.

OAKLANDS

The regular fortnightly meeting of the Oakland Y.P.S. was held on Wednesday last. There were about sixty present. The Scripture portion was read by Ray Downsworth. After a singing practice, conducted by Dave Stewart, a vocal solo was rendered by Ora Jealous. An organ solo was given by Alex Hall. The subject, "Science as Found in the Bible," was taken by Roland Savage. He concluded that in spite of the attacks made on it, the Bible is the best authority on science and the discoveries made by scientists in the last fifty years have proved this. Therefore, in the light of these things, our faith in the word of God should be stronger than ever. The next meeting will be held on June 12. A historical sketch will be given by Alex Hall.

ST. BARNABAS

The annual meeting of the St. Barnabas A.Y.P.A. was held on Wednesday evening. NEWSPAPER AS CULTURAL AID

Emphasized at Women's Press Club Ottawa Convention

Ottawa, May 31.—The newspaper as a cultural element was strongly emphasized by the seventh triennial convention of the Canadian Women's Press Club here yesterday afternoon. Miss Isabel C. Armstrong, Ottawa, stressed the fact that involved "appreciation as well as blame."

"If honestly demands adverse criticism," said Miss Armstrong, "it should be made with sincerity, constructive, and courtesy." Yesterday afternoon delegates were guests of F. D. Ross, president of The Journal Publishing Company, at luncheon. Last evening a reception was arranged by Hon. C. H. Cahan, Secretary of State, at the Dominion archives. Earlier in the day the 200 delegates given by Mr. Ross was Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, who welcomed the press women to Canada's capital. Men, said Mr. King, were more likely than women to get wrapped up in the varied interests of business and forget aesthetic and spiritual values of life. Women never forgot the beautiful, he said, and they could do much in these spheres more effectively than men.

LOST A BATTLE NOT THE WAR

Temperance Workers Have Right to Be Optimistic

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, May 31.—Temperance workers have a right to be optimistic in the future of their cause, Dr. Ella Alexandra Boole, world president of women temperance workers, told delegates attending the triennial convention of the Canadian Women's Temperance Union here yesterday.

"We have lost a battle but we have not lost the war," she declared in a review of prohibition repeal in Canada and the United States. "Repeal has had an adverse effect on temperance the world over. It has been a decided setback to our cause, but not to our determination and efforts," she said.

Mrs. Boole's address was the highlight of the convention representative of workers from all parts of Canada. The greater part of the day was taken up with reports of various committees and officers, which showed the union to be in a flourishing condition. Mrs. James Mahon, Montreal, treasurer, reported total receipts since the last convention amounted to $10,925, and disbursements $8,476. Membership affiliation fees totaled $4,260 and returns from the Sunday school campaign $3,423. Gifts to world temperance missions reached $1,370.

HEARTY COMBINATIONS POSSIBLE WITH WARMER DAYS HERE, MEAT DEMAND FOR SALAD

By MARY E. DAGE

This is one time of the year when what to have for dinner is no problem at all—except maybe that there's so much you hardly know what to choose. Luscious fruit, succulent vegetables overflow the market. The family goes in for sandwich meals, salad meals, fresh vegetable plates, all simple to make, and things that are exotic in winter and commonplace now.

Experience has taught me that in warm weather the salad bowl can betake the winter mission of the casserole and soup kettle. That is, nearly any left-overs will make salads as well as casseroles and soups. And a mixed salad, abetted by a hot bread, one of the best summer vegetables and simple dessert, makes a well balanced meal.

Here are a few recipes for hearty, inexpensive salads that can be used throughout the summer. Serve them with vegetables in season—aspargus during the season, later tender Swiss chard, crisp new wax beans, delicate green peas, baby beets, tiny carrots, creamy lima beans and grilled and stuffed potatoes. And fruit in season for dessert.

ROAST BEEF SALAD

One cup cold roast beef diced, 1/2 cup diced cooked potatoes, 1 1/2 cups cooked green beans, 1/4 cup diced cooked beets, 1/2 cup thinly sliced radishes, 1/2 cup mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, few grains white pepper, 1/2 teaspoon paprika, few drops onion juice. Add vinegar, salt, pepper, paprika and onion juice to mayonnaise. Combine vegetables and add prepared mayonnaise. Let stand, covered, on ice for an hour or longer. Add roast beef and mix lightly. Serve on crisp lettuce leaves. If lamb or veal is used in place of beef, use peas and carrots in place of beets and beets, and substitute celery for radishes if you can. One-fourth cup of diced pineapple is good.

with either of these two meals, too. Jellied meat salads are another possibility that can be developed almost indefinitely.

MONDAY'S MENU
Breakfast: Sweet cherries, cereal cream, hash, toast, milk, coffee.
Luncheon: Baked timbale of carrots, graham bread and butter, pineapple blanc mange, milk, tea.
Dinner: Cream of asparagus soup, croquettes, roast beef salad, baked potatoes, biscuits, strawberries with sugar, coconut, cookies, milk, coffee.

Victoria Archers Appear at Duncan

Members of the Victoria Archery Club will travel to Duncan to-morrow to give an exhibition shoot at the Hospital Fair. There are a great number of people interested in archery in Duncan and it is the hope of the Victoria club that their visit will help to organize an Archery Society there. With the organization of a Duncan club Victoria archers would be able to participate in an inter-city tournament.

MORE REALISM IS STORY NEED

Exaggerated Idealism Must Be Scrapped, Women Writers Told

Ottawa, May 31.—Interesting facts relating to the work of women writers and the marketing of their output were given in addresses before the Canadian Women's Press Club convention to-day by three speakers well-known in the literary world of the Dominion.

Wilma Tait, women's editor of The Canadian Home Journal, spoke on "Buying" and Norma Phillips Muir, Toronto feature writer, and Edna Kells, Calgary, recording secretary of the press club, chose "Marketing" for their subject.

The lack of the note of realism and sympathetic characterization in the majority of manuscripts submitted by Canadian authors was referred to by Miss Tait. "The authors seem to lack the moral courage to interpret life as it really is," the speaker said. "They have got to scrap their exaggerated idealism and ostrich attitude of looking on life. The majority of manuscripts received by the editor to-day are tepid and colorless—in one word, anemic. Until more Canadian writers learn to treat Canadian life as American writers are treating American life—interpreting it with the sincere realism and romance that is there waiting to be told, the magazine editors will be forced to go to the agencies who handle American and English material."

Miss Tait declared it was the last desire of a Canadian editor to go outside the Dominion for magazine requirements. Between 800 and 1,000 manuscripts are received by a Canadian editor every month.

SUBDUED ROUGE

They may bet on the long shots without a conservative thought in their heads, but society women who watch the ponies at fashionable race tracks these days certainly restrain themselves as far as makeup is concerned.

At the picturesque Belmont Park, where some of the best names in society gather to see blue blooded ponies bring fame and fortune to their owners, it is evident that rouge pots are dipped into ever so slightly, it is apparent, too, that the majority of smart spectators have taken seriously the rule about matching powder to your skin. The girls in the "Ladies Enclosure" are so well powdered that they don't look powdered at all. Furthermore you can tell at a glance that necks have been made up as carefully as faces.

Lipstick and nail polish however, in keeping with the new trends in grooming, are as obvious as rouge and powder are inconspicuous. Lips are scarlet. So are the majority of nails. A good many show plainly that they are highly in favor of matching lipstick to polish.

One attractive woman I saw walking briskly along the railing in front of the grandstand had on a blue, featherweight woolen suit with red hat and buttonhole. Her lips and her nails were done up in the exact shade of the hat and pet flower. Another—in a grey suit with pink linen blouse and hat—wore lipstick and polish that seemed in a subtle kind of way to match perfectly her accessories.

Mrs. A. B. Widener's cosmetics are applied so carefully that you aren't conscious of any one specific article. Incidentally, Mrs. Widener's wide-brimmed hat made me think that any tall girl ought to have at least one big bonnet not only from a fashion viewpoint, but because they are so flattering. They shade your eyes from sunshine, thereby preventing lines across your forehead, and certainly have a fairly romantic air about them that any beauty-minded woman ought to love.

Mother Weeps At Court Decision

Canadian Press
Vancouver, May 31.—A mother wept in Supreme Court to-day as the Vancouver General Hospital opposed her claim for $10,000 damages for burns suffered by her five-week-old son. Hospital authorities offered $1,000 in settlement.

Mrs. E. F. Roberts, plaintiff, claimed the babe, now eighteen months, when five weeks old, received burns on his right foot and leg when it touched a radiator while lying in a crib at the hospital. The child's nurse was allegedly having supper at the time of the accident.

Stable hands between the ages of fifteen and sixty-four have a higher mortality rate than any other group of workers.

Training Sets Set For Victoria's Soccer Classic To-night

THE SPORTS MIRROR

Team Declared Best Sent Out From Scotland

Campaign Across Canada and Part of U.S. Highly Successful, Manager Says

KICK-OFF AT 6.15 O'CLOCK

LAST JUNE, after Max Baer had finished mopping up the canvas with Primo Carnara, anyone had prophesied that James J. Braddock would be the new champion's first opponent, the individual would have been ridiculed.

Braddock appeared in an obscure preliminary with Tom Griffin that night. Once a light heavyweight champion challenger, the Jersey Irishman had dropped to the status of a ham-and-egger.

Yet Braddock is now in the Caskille training for a crack at Baer in the Sunken Garden of Queens on June 13. And they're building up quite a case for him, too.

Braddock says he will scale 160 pounds for Baer, which is heavier than he has ever been. The way he has filled out to his present weight of 210 pounds is remarkable.

Braddock has an unusual explanation of his physical build-up.

"I'd seen too many hungry days for the three years preceding my fight with Art Lasky to permit me to fill out properly," says Braddock. "Fights were few and far between and purses not so good. Work on the docks, which I turned to when the ring didn't seem to want me any more, wasn't always steady.

"With a wife and two little mouths to feed, and then a third, the mere thought of them snarling at me for hungry if I didn't break for me soon made me so sick with anxiety that I could hardly eat at times, even when it was for me.

"It was terrible for me, willing to work hard at anything, but having to go on relief. It hurt me even yet to think of what I went through some of those days—that, in spite of the fact I was supposed to be fighting in a stable controlled by a so-called racketeer.

"If this was true, do you think my manager, Joe Gould, and I would have had to go in want the way we did?

"Many's the day when Joe split his last half dollar with me, and what he went through, the world never will know. We were both proud to let the world know of our hard luck, though we had been generous with our money when we had plenty. Both of us learned a thing or two about fair weather friends.

A number of famous old managers pick Braddock to beat Baer, including Billy McCarney, Dan McKeirick and Joe Woodman.

They advance various reasons, but the biggest thing in Braddock's favor is a mighty fine, straight right-hand punch.

Few can conceive of Braddock beating Baer, even if the latter isn't as sharp as he might be, but there's no getting away from the fact that the Californian is going to face a desperate and dead game heavyweight.

It will pay Baer to shorten up his punches, for Braddock punches straight and true, and the Buttery Boy is advised to quit clowning and to keep his chin pulled in.

Braddock takes a punch well and can fight all night.

A victory for the rejuvenated stevedore would be one of the most dramatic stories in the history of the ring.

Amel Hoffman, manager of Baer, manoeuvred until he landed the Braddock match. He seeks to complete his contract with Madison Square Garden and to box Max Schmeling under other promotion.

He more or less picked Braddock as a sucker. Schmeling made the same mistake in taking on Baer, when he could have had the much less formidable Jack Sharkey and another crack at the crown.

Miss Joyce Wethered has been beating handicaps all her life. The young lady, who was number one of Britain's golf stars when United States players were entertained abroad, caused considerable astonishment by stating she was coming back as a professional to active major competition after being out for six years. Can she do it? Experts such as Gene Sarazen think she can. The Connecticut farmer who recently won the Masters Open at Atlanta, Ga., points out that Miss Wethered had been playing the cream of England's golfers in the recent men versus women matches. Bobby Jones calls her one of the greatest stylists of both sexes. Entitled to a handicap stroke of nine on the eighteen holes, she needed but four to defeat her opponent, Jack McLean, one of England's best amateurs, by 5 and 4. He was five strokes under par at the fourteenth hole when the match was won by Miss Wethered.

The Englishwoman revels in beating handicaps. Her work on the greens has always been indicative of her pleasure in watching an opponent stroke par for a hole and then hitting out for bettering the score. This has been characteristic of her even when she led the best women golfers of England and then gave up her amateur status so as not to be restricted by an interpretation of the rules. She played only occasionally, with friends, for the past six years and was "The best side that has come out of Scotland, or any other country, for that matter, if they play up to the form of which they are capable," is the way George Goldie Graham, secretary of the Scottish League and manager of The touring Scots, brands the island all-stars at the Athletic Park at 6.15 o'clock this evening.

The tourists arrived in Victoria this morning and proceeded straight from the boat to the Empress Hotel, where they had breakfast. Following the meal, the boys who will play this evening turned in for an extra rest, to recuperate from the grueling effects of fast travel.

Graham, a lean, likeable Scot of middle stature, announced the team to play to-night as follows: Goal, Stevenson; fullbacks, Anderson and Cummings; halves, McKeljohn, Donaldson and McDonald; forwards, Math, Walker, D. Wilson, W. Miller and A. Ferguson.

Mr. Graham declined to comment on the individual merits of the various players, asked particularly about Tommy Walker, but he did say that he had played very fine games so far on the tour. "But he's just one of seventeen players."

ENJOYABLE TOUR

"It's been a most enjoyable tour and highly successful from a playing point of view. We have won our six games, scored thirty-two goals and had four scored against us. One of the four was scored by our own back, who deflected the ball into his own net," he commented.

Mr. Graham considers the game in New York against the United States all-stars the best of the tour so far. In the metropolis they scored a 5 to 1 victory.

The quiet value of the tour, according to the manager, who regards it as a missionary effort, lies in the increased interest it has aroused in soccer football in the United States. The team played before a great crowd of spectators, many of whom had not seen a first class game before.

U.S. AND CANADA ON PAR

There is little to choose between the United States and Canadian teams, Mr. Graham contends.

The boys have all enjoyed the trip, which has been an education to most of them. McKeljohn and McDonald have been in Victoria, with the govt Rangers, but to be rest it is new.

The line-up for the game in Vancouver to-morrow will most probably be Stevenson, Walker, D. Wilson, D. McDonald and Cummings. Math and Ferguson are the forwards.

The average height of the players runs five feet nine inches and the weight is just average. "We haven't any five ones on the side," Mr. Graham noted.

SMART PLAY

The feature for the faithful to watch to-night will be the combination play between the inside forwards and the wing halves, according to the manager. The inside forwards are particularly clever on the ground, while the wing halves develop a pretty triangle passing play with them.

So far during the tour Mr. Graham has had only one major objection to the team, and that was in Toronto, where the field was in excellent shape, the pitches have been of a very standard, he contended.

In Calgary, however, the team found the playing surface so good that to its liking it could have scored many more goals, he said. In Toronto the grounds were the poorest of the lot.

NOT PICKING UP PLAYERS

While mentioning the fact that one or two players on opposing teams showed outstanding ability, Mr. Graham stated no effort had been made to induce them to take up soccer in the Old Country. The purpose of the trip was merely to popularize the game to a greater extent.

The manager was also sorry the trip had been so rushed. The boys were somewhat overworked by the magnitude of Canadian scenery, but they were forced to travel so rapidly they could not take it all in.

The team was accompanied to the city by Sam Davidson, Winnipeg, secretary of the Dominion Football Association, and other officials.

From A. J. Wilson, press representative of The Express, came color stories of the men on the team. The players have been astonished at the number of relatives they have found.

Toronto Leafs Get Fitzgerald

Hamilton, May 31.—Norval Fitzgerald, speedy right-winger of Hamilton Tigers, has signed a two-year professional contract with Conny Smythe's Toronto Maple Leafs, a team of which were not disclosed. "Fitz" came here from Windsor Mts. Max in 1932.

WASHBURN TO APPEAR HERE

Rugged Heavyweight Wrestler Meets Jagat Singh To-morrow Evening

One of the roughest heavyweights in the wrestling game will appear at the Tillamook gym to-morrow evening when "Gentleman" Jack Washburn, Georgia, meets Jagat Singh, India, in the eight ten-minute round main event. The first bout on the card will get started at 8.45 o'clock.

Washburn has a reputation for roughing it up and no doubt will live up to his advance publicity against Singh. In many of his bouts Washburn is the loser by the route but he always puts on a great show for the cash customers. Washburn battled Singh to a no-fall draw in Vancouver recently.

Appearing on the Tillamook card last week Singh gained a one-fall draw with Jack Forsgren, Vancouver, over the eight-round route. He displayed plenty of wrestling ability.

In the five eight-minute round semi-final "Rubber Legs" Anderson, Minneapolis, will tangle with Harry Kemp, Boston. Anderson, the grappler with the educated legs, has appeared here a couple of times and is a good showman. Kemp will be making his first appearance in the Victoria ring.

A local preliminary will complete the card.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

—By John Hix

THE GREAT LYRIC POET OF ANCIENT GREECE, when almost worshipful respect among people of his day by his piety and art after his death, his memory was looked upon as sacred, and Pindar became an important tradition in Greece—so much so that his descendants were looked upon as people apart from ordinary humans.

About a hundred years after the death of Pindar, Alexander the Great, who was looking upon him as a good showman, Kemp will be making his first appearance in the Victoria ring.

A local preliminary will complete the card.

STANDPAT IN FINE VICTORY

Canadian Horse Whips Azucar in Memorial Handicap at Detroit

Detroit, May 31.—E. F. Seagraves' Standpat raced to an easy victory over Azucar, winner of the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap, in the one and one-sixteenth mile Col. Alce Memorial Handicap before 20,000 fans here yesterday.

The four-year-old Canadian colt led by two lengths from start to finish. Azucar, owned by Fred M. Alger, Detroit, was in fourth place for the first three quarters. Going into the stretch he moved into third place, and made a gallant finish despite top weight of 128 pounds to beat Cross Ruff, the Tranquility Farm colt, by a nose.

The time was 1:48 3-5 and the race was worth $23,250 to the winner.

New York, May 31.—Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloan's Cavalcade lost its rider at the start of the historic Suburban Handicap at Belmont Park yesterday, and it was Mrs. Silas B. Mason's Head Play which led home a superb band of handicappers to finish the mile and a quarter in the exceptionally fast time of 2 minutes, 2 seconds.

Head Play piloted by Jockey Crayle Kurlander, overtook C. H. Knebelkamp's King Saxon, which led for a mile, and won easily by a length and a half, holding Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Discovery, which ran second, safe during the stretch run. Mrs. Deering Howe's Only One was third.

Head Play's time was 1:48 4-5, and two-fifths of a second slower than the world record for that distance.

ESSEX ELEVEN BEATEN AGAIN

Drop Match to Middlesex in English Cricket; Sutcliffe Bats Well

London, May 31.—Middlesex defeated Essex by an innings and forty-one runs in a county cricket championship match concluded at Lord's yesterday. Essex has yet to win a match in the competition, having lost five straight games.

Middlesex opened with 208 runs, their opponents replying with eighty-five and 172. H. W. V. Robins was in fine form for the winners, taking six wickets for thirty-nine runs in the Essex second innings.

Yorkshire won from Worcestershire by an innings and 164 runs at Sheffield. Sutcliffe starred for the northern county, which declared its innings when the great first wicket batsman had scored 200 not out and the total score stood at 445 for five wickets. Worcestershire could do little against the fast bowling of Bower and was dismissed for 22 and 120.

In the two innings Bower captured thirteen wickets for 98 runs. Wood, another Yorkshire batsman, scored 133 not out, while Warr and Pullen obtained 74 and 64 respectively for Worcestershire.

Close-of-play scores in other first-class games:—Surrey, 344 and 63 for one wicket; Gloucestershire, 268. Lancashire, 123 and 195 for seven wickets; Sussex, 216. Nottinghamshire, 499 for nine wickets; Glamorgan, 499. Hampshire, 221 and eight, for one wicket. Northamptonshire, 136 and 129; Warwickshire, 159 and 21 for one wicket. Kent, 339 and 290 for four wickets; declared; Glamorgan, 207. Oxford University, 149 and 108; Leicestershire, 109 and 23 for four wickets. South Africans, 448 and 168 for three wickets; Derbyshire, 238.

SET CARD FOR MOUNT STEPHEN

Seven Bouts on Programme For Open Air Fight Show This Evening

Seven bouts, three in the boxing division and four in the grappling section, will provide the entertainment for those who flock to the Mount Stephen Athletic Club's first open air show this evening. The first event is scheduled to start at 8.30 o'clock.

"Red" Knowles will meet Dick Reed, Bill Duncan, will battle Fred Henry, and "Young" Thomas will match punches with an opponent to be decided to-night in the boxing section of the programme.

Wally Edwards and Ed Dunn are expected to furnish the highlight in the grappling end of the card. George Lowe and Bobby Tuthill will meet in the semi-windup, while Jack Lacey will wrestle "Legs" Hay and "Young" Sonnenberg and "Young" Ernie Arthur will complete the card.

Louis Callan will handle all bouts.

Tacoma-Victoria Play Ball Games

Two Fixtures Will Be Staged at Athletic Park To-morrow at 2.30 and 6 o'Clock; Victoria Team To Be Strengthened For Battles With Kittens

Baseball fans will have another double-header offered for their benefit at the Athletic Park to-morrow, with the Victoria Sons of Canada club opposing the Tacoma Kittens. The fixtures are scheduled for 2.30 and 6 o'clock. In the absence of Umpire Albie McGregor, the games will be handled by Harry Down and Eddie Hall.

For the games against such stiff competition officials of the Victoria club have arranged to bring in a pitcher and shortstop from Vancouver. Just who the outside players will be will not be known until this evening. However, the visiting hurler will go into action in the afternoon game, with Leo Holden and Lloyd Cann slated to handle the mound work in the evening.

HAINES TO PLAY

Ray Haines, classy southpaw outfielder, will make his first appearance with the Victoria club to-morrow. Steve Dunn, big right-fielder, will be unable to play in the afternoon engagement and his place will be filled by Haines. Noel Morgan, left-handed first-sacker of the club, will also be out for the first time to-morrow. Morgan injured his throwing hand just before the opening of the season and has yet to play his first game. It is likely he will see action to-morrow.

The remainder of the Victoria club will be the same as in previous appearances this season.

In charge of Ed Chilla, well-known Tacoma player, the Kittens are bringing over a line-up of first-class performers. Their first-string hurler is big Vic Krause, who is expected to hurl the opening exhibition. George Mosler will be catching with Ocky Thelander at first. Bernie will handle second base; Bobby Hildebrand the shortstop berth and Frank Vincent third base.

The Tacoma outfield will be Hines, Ray.

Watt and Murray Off For England

Ryan Resigns As Portland Manager

Portland, Ore., May 31.—Buddy Ryan to-night resigned as manager of the Portland Baseball Club of the Coast League, giving ill health as his reason.

E. J. Scheffer, president and owner, accepted the resignation "with regret." No successor has been named yet.

Ryan, former manager of the Seattle team of the Coast League and former outfielder for Portland and the Cleveland Americans, was named manager last winter when Scheffer bought controlling interest of the Portland club from Tom Turner.

Last of Canadian Contingent For Overseas Competition Sails From Montreal; Will Join Rainville, Longtin, Caroline Deacon and Eleanor Young

Montreal, May 31.—Last to sail of the Canadian contingent planning a tennis invasion of England, Laird Watt and Bob Murray, Canada's most brilliant young racket wielders, sailed from here to-day on the Ascania. They will join Marcel Rainville, the little French-Canadian veteran; Roland Longtin, best of the young French-Canadians, and the two Vancouver tennis stars, Caroline Deacon and Eleanor Young.

Watt and Murray, with the two British Columbia girls, have been sent by the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association to pick up experience in the English tournaments. The Canadians will compete first at Wimbledon and later in other British tournaments.

Rainville and Longtin left Canada some time ago on funds raised by French-Canadian sportsmen. Rainville, a veteran of years' standing on the Davis Cup teams, is Canadian singles champion and No. 1 ranking player, while Longtin is the pick of recently developed French-Canadians and is highly ranked.

PROMISING YOUNGSTERS

Laird Watt, twenty-two, and Bob Murray, twenty-one, both of Montreal, are picked as the most promising players Canada has developed in some time. Watt, a six-footer, is fifth ranking player in Canada and second in Quebec. Murray, who has been playing tennis since he was twelve, ranks behind only two Canadians, Rainville and Gilbert Nunn, Toronto.

In Toronto last season the two Vancouver girls, Caroline Deacon, twenty-two, and Eleanor Young, nineteen, dark horses then, swept aside all opposition. They teamed to win the women's doubles, Caroline won the singles by beating Eleanor, who won the junior singles and defeated Betty Hollinger, United States girls' champion, in straight sets. The two brilliant players, who have been playing a week ago to take part in qualifying play for the women's Wimbledon championships, should qualification be necessary.

BRITISH STAR SHOWS CLASS

Joyce Wethered Shoots 78 in Professional Golf Debut in United States

Glenhead, L.I., May 31.—Joyce Wethered, for many years hailed as the "Bobby Jones of women's golf," made her first appearance and professional debut in the United States yesterday and lived up to her excellent tournament reputation.

From a scoring standpoint she failed to reach her own goal of even four, but her stroke execution and judgment were the highlights of an eighteen-hole exhibition match she played with Johnny Dawson, Chicago "business man" golfer, against Mrs. Glenn Collette Vase and Gene Sarazen.

The match ended all square on the eighteenth green of the Women's National Golf and Tennis Club after Sarazen exploded brilliantly from a trap for a winning four.

The scoring pace was set by Sarazen, who carried a 72. Dawson was three strokes high and Miss Wethered came up with a 78, while Mrs. Vase picked up on the fourteenth hole, but she was shooting in the neighborhood of 82.

Miss Wethered, four times winner of the British crown, convinced a critical gallery of 1,500, that two years from competition, since quitting the amateur ranks, haven't taken the edge off her game.

N.Y. Clubs Occupy Spotlight In Major Baseball Campaigns

Giants Win Two From Brooklyn; Yankees On Top

Former Register Double Victory Before Record Attendance 4-3, 6-0

CARDINALS IN TWIN TRIUMPH

The first holiday programme of the baseball season, bringing double-headers all around and an outpouring of fans that shattered all of this year's attendance records and a good many of those set in previous seasons, has gone a long way toward backing up Mickey Cochrane's recent statement that the best doubleheader clubs will find success in the 1935 pennant campaign.

Four clubs in the two major leagues won both games of yesterday's bag-gar programme, and this is how they fared: New York Giants, trouncing Brooklyn 4 to 3 and 6 to 0, increased their National League lead to four and one-half games and incidentally showed the Dodgers down to fifth place. St. Louis Cardinals, who bowled over Cincinnati 12 to 5 and 4 to 2, hopped from a third place tie with Brooklyn to second in the senior circuit standing. New York Yankees, trouncing Washington 4 to 0 and 9 to 3, captured the American League lead from Chicago, which split with Cleveland. The Phillies, slumping out 11 to 6 and 9 to 3 triumphs over the Boston Braves, pulled two and one-half games ahead on the cellar struggle with Boston.

PROFITABLE DAY
The Giants had an exceptionally profitable day. In addition to the two triumphs they reaped the benefit of the largest crowd in National League history, 63,943 paid admissions. They used off against Van Mungo for six runs in the first innings of the opener and finished with a two-hit hurling feat by fast Freddie Fitzsimmons.

The Cardinals were less spectacular, hitting steadily to collect sixteen blows in the first game and rallying in the eighth to win for Dixie Dean, who contributed nine strikeouts. The Phillies scored seven times in the eighth for their first victory and kept on slugging to pile up an overwhelming lead in the second clash.

Vito Tamulis, young Yankee south-paw, rang up his second straight shutout, holding the Senators to six hits in their first clash. The Yanks produced eighteen blows to back up Johnny Broaca in the afterpiece.

Chicago's White Sox, with 42,000 fans looking on, slammed out enough home runs to beat Cleveland 9 to 4 for "silent" John Whitehead and give the rookie his eighth consecutive mound victory. Jimmy Dykes, Zeke Bonura, and Rip Radcliff all hit for the circuit in the opener but they couldn't touch Willis Rudlin's two-hit hurling as the Indians took the second game 4 to 0.

Two more attendance marks went tumbling as 40,490 fans turned out at Pittsburgh to see the Pirates move into fourth place by getting an even break with Chicago and 38,000 over-flowed the Detroit park when the Tigers and St. Louis Browns split. Detroit never had a bigger crowd and Pittsburgh only at world series games.

Pittsburgh's rookie mound ace, Cy Blanton, was knocked from the hill for the first time as the Cubs smashed out a 6 to 4 victory, but Red Lucas evened it by pitching six-hit ball to win 4 to 1.

The Browns belted out sixteen hits and took one game from Detroit 10 to 7, then were limited to three blows by Tommy Bridges as the Tigers won 2 to 0.

Wes Ferrell was both winner and loser on the mound in the even break between the Boston Red Sox and Philadelphia Athletics. He pitched the full first game, winning 7 to 4, then came in as a relief pitcher to run into the A's five-run burst in the seventh and went down 13 to 8.

RANKINE WINS U.S. HONORS

Canadian Long-distance Runner Lifts Fifteen-kilometre Championship

Norwich, Conn., May 31.—The United States premier ten-mile runners, Paul Mundy and Lou Gregory, know to that it was not by any fluke that Robert "Scotty" Rankine, Preston, Ont., beat them at that distance to win the Canadian title last fall.

For the young Canadian with the stout legs and stouter heart took them on a fifteen kilometres here yesterday and left them inhaling the dust kicked up by his flying feet.

Rankine staged a gallant finish to win the United States Amateur Athletic Union fifteen-kilometre championship that Mundy was defending. He beat the Philadelphia star by five yards in the good time of 48 minutes 31.2 seconds after they had entered the last lap of the grind shoulder to shoulder.

Elmo Fentz, New York, who finished third in 49:41.4-5, was three seconds behind Mundy. Gregory, Long Islander, who is a former Olympian, and once held the United States fifteen-kilometre title, pulled into third place in 49:43.1-5. The young Canadian took over the lead at the four-kilometre mark and stayed up front the rest of the way.

TAXI RATES CONSIDERED
After hearing the street railway's opinion, the committee decided to hear the taxi operators' side of the question before making any definite stand.
Further discussion will be given the matter of rates, which is understood, certain concerns believe should be higher in order to offset the increased costs enforced by the Minimum Wage Act.
The question of public liability insurance on vehicles for hire will also be given further consideration at a meeting next week.

CITY TEMPLE PROGRESSING

Reports at Annual Banquet Show Good Recovery; Overcoming Difficulties

Confidence and enthusiasm marked the annual banquet of the Victoria City Temple congregation, held last night in the church hall, North Park Street. Nearly 200 attended.
Rev. Dr. W. J. Thompson, pastor of the temple, extended a greeting of welcome and G. A. A. Hobden, president of the board of management, outlined the splendid progress that had been made during the year. Mr. Hobden, in tribute to the efforts made by the pastor, officers and members in cementing the group loyalty, and declared that while financial success in a religious organization was not an end in itself, it means to an end, the somewhat peculiar situation in which the City Temple found itself, arising out of the hasty formation eleven years ago, without endowment of any kind and the inauguration of an ambitious programme, had forced financial matters to the attention of all who were concerned with the ultimate success of the organization. The deficits of $1,800 for the year of 1932-33 and $1,200 for 1933-34, had been cut down to something less than $775, including depreciation allowances.
Mr. Hobden stated that this year's improvement in finances was largely attributable to the splendid work done by the Women's Auxiliary in raising the carrying charges on the mortgage and to the very thorough work of the church finance committee, under the chairmanship of Capt. B. Gadsden, working with the treasurer, L. W. Cox, and the board. He congratulated the individual members upon their loyalty, courage and determination to see their project through. The interest and active co-operation of other churches had been a great help during the year.

The reports of the temple organizations revealed, a healthy activity throughout the entire church. The entertainment at the banquet, arranged by R. E. Snider, who also managed the drawing and sale of tickets, including the King's Birthday, was given by Mrs. G. A. A. Hobden and Mrs. T. Hammond; piano solo, Miss Joy Hedley; recitations, Miss Ellen Chester; vocal solo, Miss Constance Hobday; cornet solo, Ken Spring; accordion solo, Ernie Fullerton; violin solo, Bruce McDowell, and sleight-of-hand display by Andrew Sealuk.

Little Miss Barbara Oakley, Ellen Chester, Connie and Florence Hobday and Joy Hedley assisted in drawing the winners, who were as follows: 1. A. Mohr, 2. Pandora, 3. Mrs. Hull, 1032 Johnson Street, 841; 3. E. M. Hutchinson, 302 Pandora, 464; 4. D. Davidson, 2506 Cook Street, 1710; 5. Keir, J. M. D. No. 4, Victoria, 195; 6. Mrs. Chester, 1632 Hollywood, 2018; 7. Wilson, 1061 North Park Street, 625; 12. T. Hay, 856 Arnold Street, 625; 13. T. Hay, 856 Arnold Street, 625; 14. E. W. Carter, Cadboro Bay, 1072; 15. F. M. Bradbury, 2883 Inlet Street, 651; 16. The gathering closed with three rousing cheers and a tiger for the success of the City Temple, followed by the singing of the National Anthem.

MRS. MARY CAVIN DIES ON TRAIN

Pioneer Resident Taken Ill on Way Home From Barkerville Passes Away

The remains of Mrs. Mary Cavin, who passed away on the train at Pemberton Meadows, B.C., on Tuesday, were brought to Victoria this morning. Mrs. Cavin had been visiting in Barkerville and while en route home fell ill and was taken to hospital at Kamloops. It was thought that she had improved sufficiently to return to her home in Victoria, and it was while en route to Vancouver on the P.G.E. train that she succumbed.
Mrs. Cavin was in her sixty-fifth year and had been a resident of Victoria for the last forty-five years. She was born in Bruce County, Ont., and was the widow of Guy Cavin. She is survived by one son, Guy, in Toronto; two daughters, Mrs. Theima Cull of Victoria and Mrs. Blanche Duggan of Cobalt, Ont.; five grandchildren; three sisters, Mrs. Hastings Brown, Victoria; Mrs. Anne Heppburn, Vancouver; and Mrs. Caroline Forman, Vegreville, Alta; and three brothers, Robert Landers, Kinross, Alta; Arthur Landers, Elk Point, Alta; and Joseph Landers, Ruby, Alaska.

Mrs. Cavin had been a member of Centennial Church.

The remains are resting at Haywards B.C. Funeral Chapel and funeral services will be held in the chapel on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park.

He was taken by the C. & C. ambulance to the Jubilee Hospital, where he is being attended by Dr. Gordon C. Kenning.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

Santa Monica, May 31.—To the Editor of The Times: Our state assembly is having a terrible fight—there is twenty-seven "EPICS" (Eliminate Poverty in California) (the Sinclair ticket). That's out of a bad lot. Well, the fight is just among these twenty-seven. It's a bill to stop all these unemployed that's flocking into the state (it passed the lower house). Some EPICS say they can eliminate the poverty in the state, but they can't eliminate all the poverty that comes in. Others say that one state can't bar people of other states. All of which gets back in my plan. That is, being able to wire the supreme court and ask them. They reply with a night letter and the whole thing is settled once and for all.

Yours,
Will Rogers.

HOME STYLES ARE OUTLINED

P. L. James Tells Realtors of England's Modern Architectural Schemes

The "frankness" which marks many new English houses constructed under the modernist home movement which is now prevalent was described by P. L. James, architect, to members of the Real Estate Board at their luncheon in Spencer's dining-room to-day. Mr. James recently returned from a visit to the Old Country.

In Great Britain there were under way large housing schemes. Subsidies by the state, he said, thousands of houses were being put up at cheap cost, in a more or less uniform style.

There was a good deal of other building of a more important character, where traces of modern architecture from the continent was predominating.

The financing of many homes was done by raising a building society which kept sometimes up to 90 per cent of the cost of the home, Mr. James said. This was encouraging home-owning, particularly in Scotland.

Mr. James noted the present Old Country style of buildings was far more akin to Canadian homes than those of a few years ago. There were a few essential differences, but the similarity existed, he said.

Generally referring to the houses, Mr. James said there were two types—the modernist and the traditional. The traditional houses, he said, effected interior changes, while the general architecture remained traditional.

This style, however, was completely done away with in the modernist homes. This movement began on the continent and was international, having no regard for the architecture of any particular country.

The advocates of this style claimed it met the needs of the modern world. It was a new style, a highly perfected convenience, such as an automobile.

In this respect, the speaker quoted Prof. Julian Huxley, who predicted that the future would be a factory-produced on a mass production basis, similar to automobiles. Dealing with the modern home, he said they resembled "a box-like building with a flat top." All tradition of architecture and curves was disregarded. There were no sloping roofs on these houses, and the tradition of being able to be made watertight and would permit sun-bathing in the warm season.

Mr. James did not find nothing material in the modern homes which had not been embodied in western Canadian homes. They differed particularly in staircases, which were extremely narrow, he said. The work was much inferior to that in western Canada. The staircase in one home was two feet four inches wide. With all these extreme ideas, the speaker thought much could be learned from them.

Speaking of the better exterior finished, Mr. James did not think the days of stucco were finished in the west. If properly used and applied stucco had a great deal in its favor. A brick veneer was a good idea, and a brick veneer was a good idea, and a brick veneer was a good idea.

Members of the board questioned Mr. James at length on what he had seen.

$1,141 AWARD FOR POLE FALL

Radio Man Gets Verdict Over CFCT; Judge Analyzes Roof Crash

George Davis, former radio operator, who last year fell from the antennae pole of radio station CFCT to the roof atop the story Central Building, was to-day awarded $850 general damages and $291.50 special damages by the judgment of Mr. Justice Lucas of the Supreme Court, against George Deaville, head of CFCT.

Davis was painting the pole when the rope holding him aloft broke. His injuries put him in a plaster cast in hospital for several months afterwards.

"The method adopted by the use of the bosun's chair, hauled up by a wire cable passing through a block at the head of the pole, was a competent one," the judge stated in his analysis of the evidence. "The defendant, Deaville, says the plaintiff, Davis, should have used a ladder and contends that failure to use a ladder suggested negligence on the part of the plaintiff. I cannot follow that contention."

"I find as a fact that on this occasion the accident was not caused by the failure of the bosun's chair or the wire cable or the block at the head of the mast, but by something else entirely, namely, the pulling of the rope attached to the wire cable. The use of this rope was made necessary owing to the fact that the wire cable was not long enough to have both ends reach the ground for passing through the pulley or block at the top of the pole."

"At the time of the commencement of the employment, this combination of wire cable and rope was in place to be used and the only method whereby anything could be hauled up the pole was by means of the cable. But when the time came to go up the pole, the plaintiff was under the defendant's direction and control and the defendant himself and his son were suggested to him from liability. I cannot follow that contention."

"What then followed I find was the cause of the accident. The defendant let go the rope and left the location of the pole, where the rope was attached, to the plaintiff. The plaintiff left his son there alone to hold it and thus maintain the plaintiff in his position up the pole. Then, either because the son was not strong enough or in order to ease the strain, the son passed the rope around a spike or large nail driven into a pole near the bottom. The rope, which demonstrated was strong enough for the purpose when held up by hand, was not strong enough when bent around this spike. The tension being thus centred on one place in the rope, coupled with the necessarily short or sharp bend in the rope at that place, caused it to part there and the plaintiff was precipitated to the roof, thus causing his injuries complained of."

The justice set out that he found no contributory negligence on the part of Davis.

ACTION LOST BY SURVEYORS

Judge Refuses Rehearing on Quashing Board's Action in Humphreys Case

Mr. Justice Lucas of the Supreme Court in a judgment delivered here to-day refused to permit what would have amounted to a reopening of the case in which the Board of the B.C. Land Surveyors found Noel Humphreys guilty under the Land Surveyors Act of unprofessional conduct in connection with the surveying of mines in the Bridge River.

The surveyors board had suspended Mr. Humphreys's license and in addition imposed a fine. Mr. Humphreys some time ago brought the action of the board before the courts and Mr. Justice Lucas in a recent ruling quashed the order of the board on the grounds that its members had exceeded their powers as regards the punishment handed out.

With A. D. Crease and H. O. Hall, K.C., as their counsel, the B.C. Land Surveyors brought the case up again before Mr. Justice Lucas a few days ago.
"I have given consideration to the further submission of counsel for the Board of B.C. Land Surveyors that it should go further and, I presume, either direct a rehearing of the case before the board or hold a rehearing of the case before myself," said the justice in his final ruling to-day.
"I consider that I have heard the appeal in the first instance and having quashed the order of the board, my authority to do further with the matter in these proceedings is at an end and the order will go as originally directed."

Oil On Island Is Possibility

S. Hauser, Independent Operator of San Francisco, Looking Over Ground

Possibility of discovery of oil on Vancouver Island brings to Victoria to-day S. Hauser, independent oil operator of San Francisco and adviser to the Standard and Shell companies of California.
"It is there is shale formation on the island it would be an indication that oil exists," said Mr. Hauser when seen at the Empress Hotel this morning. Other than admitting that he was interested in oil and was looking over the ground here, the oil operator was not disposed to talk of his objective.

He carries letters of introduction to Mon. Gordon Sloan, Attorney-General, and Mayor Leeming.
Some fifty years have elapsed since Mr. Hauser was first in Victoria, he disclosed. It was in the late eighties that he was interested in mining here.

Since he has been in the oil game in the south he has been handling lands for the Standard and Shell Oil Companies, and is one of the best posted men in the business.
British Columbia's Mr. Hauser figures, has a bright mining future, and he sees no reason why oil in commercial quantities should not be found here.
On completing his business in Victoria, Mr. Hauser will go on to Vancouver to meet former associates in the mining industry.

YOUNG PEOPLE AT LUNCHEON

Rotarians Hear High School Speaker and Talented Young Musicians

A programme was given by four students of Victoria High School at a luncheon of the Rotary Club yesterday in the Empress Hotel. J. H. Beatty also gave some impressions of the recent district conference held at Bellingham, Wash.

Jack McKay, in the absence of Frank Turley, chairman of the boys' work committee, introduced the students and Harry Smith, principal of the High School.

Struan Robertson, president of the Students' Council of the High School, gave a brief talk on "The Outlook of Youth To-day." He said undoubtedly the boys leaving schools and colleges to-day faced a grave task and upon them depended the governments of the future.

He stressed the necessity of training youth in vocational service, so they might have somewhere definite to turn to. He appealed to business men to give school boys some small positions during the summer months so that they could earn enough money to continue their studies in the fall.

ASKS SMALL JOBS

"That is really better than a scholarship," the speaker said, "because a scholarship only helps the boys at the top. We boys are in a critical period of our lives and unless given something to do, the outlook is not very bright. The young people of to-day are becoming very disinterested. The boys whose fathers have the power will get the positions. Our grasping politicians must be replaced by true Lauriers and true Macdonalds. The boys at the High School want to become politicians, but they also want to become more than politicians. They want to become statesmen."

Robert Clarke, cornetist, with Ray Miller at the piano, and Alfred Prescott providing a violin accompaniment, gave a solo, and Naden Young, flautist, rendered a solo, accompanied by the Rotary orchestra. The musical programme was under the direction of Mr. Prescott.

J. Morse Hatt presided at the luncheon for the last time as president. Next week he will hand over the reins of office to Herbert J. Pendray.

pared with 1934, according to a cable received by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics from its Calcutta correspondent.

NEW PICTURE AT DOMINION

Edward G. Robinson Has Leading Role in "The Whole Town's Talking"

Some men are born to be great, others achieve greatness, but Edward G. Robinson, screen star, had greatness thrust upon him.
Such, at least, is the situation that exists in his current starring production, "The Whole Town's Talking," which is now showing at the Dominion Theatre.
Robinson is cast as an inoffensive, shy little clerk who resembles an escaped desperado. To protect him from frequent arrests, he is given a "passport"—a document announcing that he is not the hunted criminal. However, this paper, when stolen by the villainous gangster, makes Robinson's life even more hazardous than before.
John Ford directed "The Whole Town's Talking," from a W. R. Burnett novel, adapted to the screen by Joe Gershwin and Robert Riskin, Columbia's ace scenarists.

some local Fascist elements. There is no name on these leaflets, and so far we have been unable to discover just who is distributing them. Therefore, as convener of the publicity committee of the striking camp workers in Victoria, I have been instructed to ask the public through the press to assist us in tracing and exposing the source of this despicable attempt to engender trouble in the city.
As regards the camp boys being hoodlums, cowards and hypocrites, we leave that entirely to the mothers of Victoria who invited them to their homes on Mother's Day, who may write to the press giving an opinion.

GARDEN SURVEY
To the Editor:—During the month of June, the Victoria Horticultural Society intends to make a survey of every garden of 120 feet frontage and under with the object of finding the gardens which do the most to beautify the city and attract the attention of passers by.
The city has been divided into four sections, with Cook Street dividing east and west and Pandora Avenue dividing north and south. Saanich,

LIQUORS VARY IN VALUE AS DIET BENEFITS

Although Not Taken Especially to Add Weight, Beer and Wine Provide More Calories, Compared With Stronger Drinks

BY DR. MORRIS FISHER

One of the most frequent questions sent to me of late has been whether use of alcoholic liquors tends to put on much weight, and whether they have any special value in the diet. People do not take alcoholic beverages with the idea of putting on weight. They are taken for their appetizing reaction, for the feeling of exhilaration that they give, and because they seem to be a pleasant way to quench thirst.

Alcoholic beverages usually are divided into malt liquors, wines, and distilled liquors. The various types differ in their contributions to increase weight and in the amount of alcohol they contain.
Malt liquors usually have less alcohol than do wines or distilled liquors, but they have a much higher amount of carbohydrate and protein.
In many foreign countries, beers and ales are taken as part of the meal and help to provide the total number of calories required by the individual for the day.
In this country far too frequently these liquors are taken between meals. Because they add a considerable amount of calories to those usually taken, they tend to put on weight.
Light beer usually contains less carbohydrate and more alcohol than dark beer. Dark beer is made with more malt and hops per barrel, and therefore contains more alcohol and carbohydrates than ordinary beer.
Ale, porter, and stout differ from ordinary beer in using another type of yeast requiring higher fermentation and storage temperatures. These produce a different flavor.
These forms of malt liquors usually contain more alcohol and carbohydrates than ordinary beers. In general, a cup or half-pint of dark beer provides 150 calories as compared with 110 calories for lager beer and 160 calories for ale.
Wines and Pilsner beers are a little richer than ordinary beer in calories.
In the variety according to the country in which they are produced, and also according to the kind of grapes used in production.
Wines usually contain two to four times the percent of alcohol found in beer, but they are much lower in carbohydrates and are usually taken in smaller quantities.
For example, a wine glass, or about one-tenth of a quart, of ordinary California wine provides seventy-five calories. Sweet wines, such as muscatel, port, and sherry, provide between 140 and 170 calories to the glass.
Champagne provides from eighty-five to 120 calories a glass. The amount of alcohol in such a glass of wine is 10 per cent by weight as compared with 4 to 6 per cent by weight for beer.
Whisky is proportionately much stronger in alcohol, running from 30 to 35 per cent by weight and providing fifty to seventy-five calories for a small glass. Cocktails of all kinds vary according to materials put in them.

"Gold Diggers" Here To-morrow

It has been two years in the making, but if advance reports prove true the first National picture "Gold Diggers of 1935," which Manager Robertson has booked for the Capitol Theatre to-morrow, was well worth waiting for.

First National, always famed for magnificent musical spectacles, has outdone itself in this picture, which marks the advent of Busby Berkeley as the director of a complete production.
Berkeley, it is claimed, has taken a funny, clever story, gathered together a cast of film favorites that includes ten of Warner Bros.' outstanding stars, and, with the assistance of more than 300 of the prettiest dancing girls in Hollywood, has assembled the whole into a wonderful comedy in which his talent for spectacular screen innovations has been given full play.
The director was the musical comedy genius responsible for the spectacles in "42nd Street," "Wonder Bar," "Gold Diggers of 1933," "Foot-Light Parade" and other musicals.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE
Alice Faye and Frank McHugh, enacting a sequence from "365 Nights in Hollywood," now showing at the Playhouse Theatre, had the experience of doing picture work and the equivalent of theatre work while playing certain of their scenes together.
The reason for this was that location shooting was done at a "drive-in" eating shop on Wilshire Boulevard, Los Angeles, and the presence of the motion picture crew attracted a huge crowd of spectators. So Alice and Frank did their comedy scene before approximately 500 people.

COLUMBIA THEATRE
"Babbitt," greatest of the Sinclair Lewis novels which brought to that distinguished author the honor of being the first American to win the Nobel prize in literature, is scheduled as the feature attraction at the Columbia Theatre to-day.
Transferred to the screen with all its subtle humor, its philosophy, its dramatic situations and its irony, and given a remarkable cast headed by Allyn MacMahon and Guy Kibbee, the film version of "Babbitt" is expected to rival in popularity the book on which it is based.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST
By ALICE MICHAELS
GAIN IN GIVING
Her love was nothing much to give,
Although she gave him all she had,
To him in words was fugitive
And small.
Yet, giving, she was richly blest
With much she lacked before,
For wisdom flowered in her breast,
And more.
New tolerance and pity dwelt
In her for all men's care;
She suffered for all those who felt
Despair.
With all who loved she could rejoice,
Could pray with all who prayed;
She answered every suppliant voice
With aid.
The love he thrust from his embrace
And gladly put away
Has cast in many a darkened place
The ray.

CHERRY PIE
I'll obey them in the winter when the doctors say to me
I must give up ham and spinach, and chicken I'll be.
To relieve my indigestion in December they can try.
But there's none of them can stop me when it's time for cherry pie.

They can shake their heads and warn me that disaster I shall suffer
By persisting in devouring tasty victuals that I like.
I'll forgo in February all the sweetmeats they deny.
But no doctor's going to stop me when it's time for cherry pie.

With the cherries ripe for eating and for baking I will take
My wedge of luscious goodness and then let the stomach ache.
Let the acid overpower me if it wants to.
There's no diet list I'll follow that would rule out cherry pie.

I'll be good in February, I'll do all the doctors say.
I'll eat all their tasteless victuals till about the end of May.
Then I'll turn my back upon me, and then, even though I die,
As I wind my way to Heaven I'll be full of cherry pie.

How Can a Girl Make a Hit With Men? Or Interesting Strong Sex

GIRLS ARE ALWAYS ASKING why they are not popular with boys. They say that they are just as pretty as other girls, just as well dressed, and they cannot understand why Mary and Sue have dates to burn while no boys ever ask them to step out with them.

It is hard to answer definitely the heartrending cry of the forgotten girl because, as the Scripture sets forth, the way of a man with a maid is a mystery past all solving, and no one, not even the man himself, knows what it is in a woman that strikes his fickle fancy. Basically, it is sex attraction, that intangible allure that some women have for men that makes male infants crawl out of the cradle and great-grandfathers rise out of the grave to follow them.

This is a gift of Nature and is not to be acquired by art or artifice. Not has it much to do with beauty or intelligence or any of the major and minor virtues. A girl either has the come-hither look in her eyes, or she hasn't, and that's all there is about it.

While, however, every girl cannot stampee the men, so to speak, almost any girl can have enough boy friends to play with and eventually to furnish her a husband if she knows how to handle them. It is because so many women are so deeply and abysmally ignorant of how to please men that there are so many wallflowers at parties and so many old maids at home.

The first thing that a girl who wishes to be popular with boys should remember is that men are window shoppers. So in order to attract their attention she must put up the best show she can. Every man gives every girl he meets the once-over and if there isn't something about her that catches the eye, he passes on. This does not mean that she has to be a "Miss America." Still less does it mean that she must look as if she spent half her life in a beauty shop and is a daily hint from Paris, but it does mean that she must look clean and well groomed and know how to wear her clothes.

Men abstractly admire living pictures, but they are generally willing to let other men hang them on their walls. They shun girls who are too well dressed, because you can't take what looks like a million dollars' worth of clothes out of the movies. They loathe getting a mouthful of rouge every time they like a girl, and, besides, they are repelled by artificiality. They like a girl who is pretty but not too pretty; who is well enough dressed to make them proud to take her out, but who isn't dolled up like Mrs. Astorbill.

The girl who wishes to be popular with men should also remember that men like a girl to show that she is pleased with their attentions, but they don't want her to be so grateful that it shows that no other man ever noticed her. When it comes to women so many men trust his own judgment. He wants the O.K. of his fellows on them. And a girl makes a fatal mistake when she doesn't adopt the take-you-or-leave-you attitude toward them. Once let a girl get a reputation as a telephone hound who pursues a man even to his work with suggestions about dates and why-haven't-you-been-to-see-me's, and she becomes a pest that men avoid as they would the smallpox.

On the contrary, don't be Lady Diddal. She is out, in these days of spoiled men. Let a man perceive that he interests you strangely; that he is different from other men, somehow; that you enjoy being with him. Appear to have the time of your life when he takes you out. Make him feel that you prefer his flattery to a Rolls-Royce. Show appreciation of his efforts to give you a good time. Be willing, but not too willing. Meet him halfway but don't go the whole distance. A wit once said that a marriage is what happens when a man captures the woman who was running after him.

If you want to be popular with men, be adaptable and learn how to do things. No man takes the girl out a second time who is a spoilsport and who ruins a party because she never fits in with the crowd and can't be the things the others do. The girl who is goodnatured and gets fun out of everything, and who can sing a little and cook a little and star games and think up stunts is the one who is always thought of when a party is organized. The girl who can play a good game of tennis or golf or bridge is a hostess's delight. The girl who is a superlative dancer never lacks for partners. The girl with a good bag of parlor tricks takes the wedding cake every time.

Finally, the girl who wants to be popular with men must suit her technique to the man. Some men like to do all the talking. Other men want a woman to entertain them. The girl who is to be fed flattery with a shovel. Others like to have it subtly insinuated that they are the world's wonder. Some men like women who are brilliant and scintillating. Others prefer Dumb Doras. But there is a way to every man's liking for the woman who is clever enough to find it.

Uncle Wiggily And Jingle's Lesson

By HOWARD E. GARIS

Jingle Longears was a very nice, sweet and lovable little rabbit girl. Jingle was one of the cutest of Uncle Wiggily's many bunny rabbit children. But she had one bad habit and, try as she would, Mrs. Longears, her mother, couldn't seem to cure Jingle.

Neither could Nurse Jan Pussy Wuzzy, the jolly, old nurse who had been with Jingle since she was a tiny bunny. Jingle had tried in many ways to cure Jingle of her bad habit but had not succeeded.

As yet Uncle Wiggily didn't know about this troublesome part of Jingle. The old rabbit gentleman was away from his hole, stumped bungalow so much that he hadn't noticed the habit Jingle had fallen into.

"But if it keeps on," said Mrs. Longears to Nurse Jan, "I must tell Wiggily and see what he can do. I must tell Wiggily and see what he can do."

"He ought to teach Jingle a lesson," said Nurse Jane.

The naughty habit Jingle had was this. She never finished any of the little tasks or bits of work that her mother and Nurse Jane gave her to do around the bungalow. There was so much work to do in Uncle Wiggily's bungalow; sweeping, mowing, dusting, making up the beds and so on. But she would make eight beds and leave two all rumpled up and run out to play.

At last one day when Jingle had been told to sweep the front steps after having cleaned only half the porch.

"This is the end!" said Mrs. Longears. "I think it will be best," agreed Nurse Jane.

That afternoon, when she came home from adventuring, Uncle Wiggily was told of Jingle's bad habit.

"I must teach her a lesson, teach her to keep at whatever she starts to do until she finishes it," said the rabbit gentleman. "Nothing is worse than leaving a thing half done. I know a little trick to play on Jingle that will be a lesson to her."

Next day when Jingle and Jangle, her twin sister, were drying the superduper before going out to play, Uncle Wiggily handed each of them a large skein of yarn.

WIND THE YARN

"When you finish the dishes," he said to them, "please wind this yarn into nice round balls, so Nurse Jane can knit it into socks for the ducks." Jingle and Jangle took the yarn from the skeins into balls.

"All right, Daddy," said Jingle and Jangle, but the dishes were soon finished, Jingle for once doing her share. Then the little rabbit girls began to wind the yarn into balls. But when Jingle had her skein half done she grew tired and ran out to play. Jangle, however, winding her ball until the skein was finished.

And in the very last folds of yarn she found a bribe or bribe or bribe. A recent piece of fabric had hidden there. "Oh, boy!" cried Jangle. "I got a prize, and she ran out where Jingle was playing and showed her the money, telling where she had found it."

"Oh, dear! I wish I'd finished my skein!" said Jingle, into the bungalow she quickly hopped and finished winding her ball of yarn. Then she found her own

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

SATURDAY, JUNE 1, 1935

The month of June is a disquieting period for the people of Earth, according to astrology. Revolutionary tendencies will be strong all through the summer. On this first day of June adverse aspects are active and the winds will be strong and blowing. The end of the year is to reveal great accomplishment. As this is not an auspicious day for women, they should keep in the background, except in social affairs. Ready judgments in business and professional matters are indicated.

Farmers are to meet many difficulties, including storms and frosts and plagues of insects and strange blights that destroy crops. This is not a happy rule of the stars for executives. Severe criticism of government officials will be extensive. Plans to undermine plans of federal heads for important projects are indicated.

Half truths and misleading information will be prevalent in the United States, as well as in European countries. Before the autumn much underground work will be accomplished.

There is a sign encouraging the poorest judgment efforts toward reducing crime. Perils of mismanagement are foreseen.

This is a fortunate day for outdoor recreations and entertainments. While young folk may not be attuned to romance they will do well directed on sports that insure impersonal social relations.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of much work and many difficulties that are to be successfully surmounted.

Children born on this day will be exceedingly original in their ideas and stubbornly determined. These subjects of Genial are often difficult to manage.

Brigham Young, president of the Mormon Church, was born on this day, 1801. Other who have celebrated it as a birthday include Eben Tourne, musician, 1874, and Hugo Munsterberg, German psychologist. (Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

Upton Sinclair Wires Roosevelt

Associated Press
Los Angeles, May 31.—Upton Sinclair has wired President Roosevelt that "your only recourse now is in a system of production-for-use, according to the EPIC plan."

He later said he was referring to the situation created by the Supreme Court's decision invalidating codes and wage provisions.

Mr. Sinclair told the President: "We are now starting a national campaign to apply the EPIC, or 'end Poverty in California' plan of production-for-use on which he based his governorship race. He said such a plan operated nationally would bring about permanently increased wages."
